We look forward to seeing you in Denver!

New Graduate Department Membership

The AATSP has created a new Graduate Department Membership available to any language department that offers graduate degrees in Spanish and/or Portuguese. The group rate provides a membership to one full-time faculty member and the graduate students in the department. Continue to check the website for more information.

Changes to Albricias publication schedule

Albricias will now be published twice per year, March and November, starting with the first issue in 2015. The journal will continue to focus on student work and sponsors should note that the change will not affect the number of student produced items which will be published. The page count of each issue will increase to accommodate the same number of qualified student submissions.

Call for Abstracts for a special volume in the MLA series Teaching Languages, Literatures and Cultures

Essay proposals are invited for a volume in the MLA series Teaching Languages, Literatures and Cultures, under the title Foreign Language Teaching and the Environment: Theory, Curricula, Institutional Structures, to be edited by Charlotte Melin (University of Minnesota). The goal of this volume is to provide an introduction to teaching sustainability and environmental humanities topics in language, literature and culture courses.

Abstracts of 250-300 words and CVs should be sent to the volume editor by September 1, 2014.
