

In this Issue

- CWA, Access Fund Partner
- Industry Jobs
- Member Spotlight: Focus

CWA, Access Fund Partner to Address Transition Climbers

This November, Access Fund will convene climbing's leaders in the Gunks to tackle how to instill climbers with a stewardship and low-impact ethic to protect climbing access. With the influx of climbers being introduced to the sport (often through an indoor gym setting), impacts to access, the environment, and user experiences are growing. Attendees will discuss and formulate strategies for educational outreach to lessen impacts to climbing areas. The CWA will be in attendance to speak on the importance of gym to crag transition education.

Lean More >

Industry Jobs

inSPIRE Rock

Head Routesetter

The head route setter will manage all aspects of the route setting at inSPIRE Rock. They will deliver high quality routes for all skill levels, manage the part time route setters, and be accessible to members for guidance. Above all the head setter will work together with the other departments to deliver the highest quality product to its customers.

Please submit a cover letter, resume, and professional/climbing references to:
cedric@teamsynergyinc.com

Member Spotlight: Focus Climbing

Joe Czerwinski knows climbing. With over 19 years of experience as a route setter, coach, and competitive climber, Joe put his unique perspective to use when he opened Mesa's newest climbing gym in June of this year. No roped climbing and a state-of-the-art flooring system highlight Mesa, AZ's newest facility. Read on to get an inside look at Joe's brainchild, Focus Climbing Center.

Learn More >