

Committee Descriptions

Education Committee

Whether you are at the beginning of your career, looking for advanced training, or are a more experienced professional, your insights are welcome as we continue to update our content and our delivery. The CI Education Committee develops the curricula for our professional education program, including CI's Professional Certificate programs. The committee works collaboratively with other committees to develop new courses, to develop leadership, and to promote multi-disciplinary fluency.

Our focus for 2017-2018 will include expanding our educational offerings for organizations like the Connecticut Conference of Municipalities and the Public Procurement Association of Connecticut, as well as develop our online Learning Management System. Join us in creating opportunities for our members to learn and to provide instruction for others.

Special skills needed: If you have experience with online content development, including webinars, podcasts, etc. please consider volunteering for this committee.

Marketing Committee

The CI Communications Committee is the heart of CI's mission to promote cross-industry collaboration. It engages with members and promotes the CI's mission, classes, events, and publications through social media, website content development, and personal engagement.

Special Skills needed: Currently, the communications committee is looking for professionals with experience in marketing, design, creative writing or social media. We are also looking for members interested in photography and videography.

Membership Committee

If you have a passion for developing meaningful relationships, this is the committee for you. The CI Membership Committee works with the Board and other committees to identify prospective members and engage them in CI events and classes. This committee works with the Board, other committees, and the CI professional team to follow up and bring in new members who will engage with other members to further the vision and mission of the CI.

Editorial Task Force

Our Editorial Task force is another place to exercise your creativity. The task force works to identify content and authors for CI articles. CI currently publishes monthly in the New England Real Estate Journal and High Profile and we are looking to expand next year.

Skills needed: A love of writing, interviewing, and/or editing.

Program Committee

Every year, the CI produces some of the most compelling, content rich programs in the industry. Our program committee works with teams of program task forces to create dynamic, relevant, and timely content. If you would like to take part in program development, including the Owners' Forum, the Visionaries, the Women Who Build, or if you would like to help develop the next generation of programs, join us.

Student Initiative Committee

If you believe that developing an effective pipeline to the profession is important, the Student Initiatives Committee is the place for you. Help us to engage University of Hartford students in career ready training, internships, and special programs to get them ready for your company.

The BIM Council

The BIM Council brings together a diverse group of practitioners to further the advancement of knowledge and capability of all practitioners collaborating through the use of BIM technologies; through presentations, workshops, and the development of concrete user tools that enhance the value of BIM.

Fairfield County Council

Everything you love about the CI brought to you in Fairfield County. The Council meets once a month for a dinner at the wonderful A'Vucchella Restaurant in Bridgeport to network and plan socials, classes, and programs in Fairfield County.

Owner's Council

The Owner's Council of the Construction Institute consists of its owner-members and creates programs specifically designed to meet the needs of facilities owners and managers. Owners' Council Lunch & Learns are by invitation only to owners and facilities managers both CI members and non-members alike. The Construction Institute Owners' Council is the Local Users' Council of the Construction Users' Round Table.

If you are an owner or facilities manager and would like to become involved in developing our Owners' Council Events, please let us know.

Young Professionals Council

This year the Young Professionals Council sponsored several socials, combining networking, mentoring, and leadership. They also helped the CI launch the highly successful industryREdesign series of workshops which uses a cross-industry, cross-generational approach to creating solutions for our industry's greatest challenges. If you would like to get more involved with planning the activities of this dynamic group, say yes!

The Golf Committee

You know what we do. If golf is your passion help us shape the industry's best attended and most diverse golf event!

Development Committee

The Development Committee's job is not simply to raise money. Instead, the Committee is responsible for overseeing the organization's overall business plan. This Committee works closely with the Board of Directors, the Finance Committee, and the Executive Director to ensure that the CI has the funds to thrive.

Finance Committee

The Finance Committee reviews budgets initially prepared by CI's professional team, to help develop appropriate goals, reviews consistency between the budget and the organization's plans, and works with the Board of Directors and the Development Committee to ensure the financial integrity of the CI.
