

CHRISTOPHER GOMEZ, AICP
COMMISSIONER OF PLANNING – CITY OF WHITE PLAINS, NY

Christopher Gomez, AICP, currently serves as the Commissioner of Planning for the City of White Plains, NY.

Recently, Chris led a 15-month public planning process culminating in the White Plains Transit District Strategic Plan to reimagine a new downtown transit-oriented node including the redevelopment of 4.5 acres of publicly owned land adjacent to the White Plains Metro-North Station. Chris has also served as the Director of Planning and Development for the Village of Port Chester, NY and Associate Land Use Planner with the Westchester County Planning Department.

Chris has an undergraduate degree in architecture and urban studies from Lehigh University and earned his M.S Planning degree from Columbia University. He currently serves on the Board of Directors of the Westchester Municipal Planning Federation (WMPF) and as an appointed Planning Commissioner in the City of Peekskill, NY.