

COLORADO EDUCATION POLICY FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM 2017-18 APPLICATION FORM

We are pleased you are considering the Colorado Education Policy Fellowship Program. The Education Policy Fellowship Program (EPFP) is a ten-month professional development program for individuals whose work record reflects strong leadership abilities and a concern for issues important to children and education. Participants in the Fellowship Program hold full-time positions in diverse organizations at the local, state, and national levels. Fellows are endorsed and supported by their employing agencies in the Fellowship Program.

Participation in EPFP yields key results. The program stands on three legs of leadership, policy, and networking that provide Fellows with an exceptional opportunity to learn, to apply new insights, and to practice new skills.

Through monthly seminars, workshops, and discussions, as well as a spring project, the EPFP Fellows:

- Develop a broadened understanding of the policy process and the various aspects of education policy;
- Enhance their communication and decision-making skills;
- Refine their potential for leadership; and
- Expand their network of professional colleagues.

As a result, employing agencies are rewarded with better informed and more skillful staff.

The nationally recognized EPFP was established in 1964 by the Institute for Educational Leadership (IEL) in Washington, DC. IEL supports the program in its network of 17 state affiliates and in the District of Columbia. EPFP has produced nearly 8,000 alumni who now lead at high levels in all sectors.

Between 1978 and 1997, the Colorado EPFP served over 145 Coloradans, and was re-established in 2012-13. We have had 39 Colorado Fellows complete the program over the past five years. The program for 2017-18 seeks eight Fellows who are eager to play a leadership role in education policy in our state.

The Colorado Education Policy Fellowship Program operates under:

Colorado Education Policy Fellowship Program

The Colorado Education Policy Fellowship Program brings together a diverse cohort of professionals from education, health, human services, government, business, and community organizations.

ELIGIBILITY AND SELECTION PROCESS

Colorado EPFP invites you to apply if you have:

- A commitment to personal and professional development on behalf of children and youth;
- A track record for making things happen—inside and across agencies and organizations;
- Substantive work experiences, leadership experience, and a full-time professional position;
- A Bachelor's degree or its equivalent;
- The endorsement and financial support of your employing organization.

What is my commitment if I am accepted as an EPFP Fellow?

- Participate in a half-day retreat in the fall and eight 3-4 hour seminars, often held at the conclusion of a normal work day (such as dinner meetings on Tuesday or Wednesday from 4:00-7:30 PM) in Denver, over a ten-month period. Keep up with recommended readings in advance of the monthly meetings.
- Travel to and participate in the four-day national policy seminar, March 18-21, in Washington, D.C., meeting with Fellows from 15 other states, many with Education Policy Fellowship Programs now in their third or fourth decade. As participation in the Washington seminar is the major expense for each sponsoring agency, all candidates must be able to attend the event in April. (For a look at the agenda of the April 2017 Washington Policy Seminar, see http://epfp.iel.org/?page=2017_WPS.)
- Commit to produce a policy brief, perhaps with other Fellows, on an issue relevant to your sponsoring organization. Our final event (June 2018) is a public presentation of each Fellow's policy brief.
- Share your experience and knowledge with other Fellows through presentations, class discussion, and class projects.
- Conduct independent study and research to expand on issues explored in the program.

How will my organization benefit from my participation in the EPFP?

Employers gain:

- Access to a professional development program with a proven track record.
- Better informed, more skillful employees.
- Employees who are ready to assume more leadership responsibilities.
- Expanded networks that enhance the organization's ability to access key leaders and decision makers who shape policy in Colorado on behalf of children and education.

How is Colorado EPFP different from other professional development programs?

The focus of EPFP is developing leadership and knowledge as it pertains to education policy. EPFP is supported by a national and state network of highly accomplished men and women with expertise in research, policy development, and effective practice in education, child development, health, and human services. Through collaboration with the University of Colorado at Denver's School of Public Affairs and several Denver-based national organizations—including the Education Commission of the States and the National Conference of State Legislatures—facilitators from these and other organizations will lead seminars, skill development workshops, and discussions that explore major education policy issues for Colorado—and the country. Fellows will meet with legislators and key education policy officials. In addition, Fellows work on a project and make a presentation during their graduation ceremony. Participation in the Washington Policy Seminar increases Fellows' knowledge of national policy issues and processes and gives them a chance to explore the impact of national policy on their work.

EMPLOYER'S COMMITMENT TO and SUPPORT of FELLOWS

PROGRAM FEES AND EMPLOYER SPONSORSHIP

Each Fellow or the Fellow's employing agency—the sponsor—will pay a fee of $1,400 to help cover costs of the program. Of this amount, $875 goes directly to the Institute for Educational Leadership, which puts on the national conference. The sponsor or the Fellow will also pay for travel and hotel expenses for the national conference in Washington, D.C. (March, 2018). In addition, the employer provides release time as needed for participation in the fall half-day retreat, for the monthly meetings in Denver, and for other program activities, including one visit to a school.

TO THE SUPERVISOR/EMPLOYING AGENCY REPRESENTATIVE:

2017-18 Colorado Fellows are expected to participate in the half-day retreat in the fall, attend the eight seminars/meetings in Denver, and take part in the national policy seminar (scheduled for March 18-21, 2018, in Washington, D.C.) that brings together Fellows from all EPFP sites.

The program's cost remains low in 2017-18 in part thanks to foundation support.

Your signature affirms:

- (1) your employee's release time for full participation in the Fellowship Program and
- (2) payment of $1,400 to help cover costs of the program.

The sponsor or Fellow or sponsor will also pay for travel and hotel expenses to the Washington Policy Conference in March 2018. (NOTE: In the past two years, this expense can reach $1,000 or more.)

If you have any questions, please contact Peter Huidekoper Jr. at 303-757-1225 or by email at peterhdkpr@gmail.com.

EDUCATION POLICY FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM

APPLICATION—DUE JULY 7, 2017

THE FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM

Colorado EPFP Fellows remain in their full-time positions and use their work environment as the context for examining important leadership and policy issues in their states and in the nation. EPFP activities are directed by coordinators who are experienced professionals in public education policy, practice and research.

Colorado requires consistent participation in the monthly seminars. In addition, Fellows are expected to participate in the Washington Policy Seminar and to commit to a policy project in the winter and spring. Please consider these extra demands on your time in light of your current professional and personal schedule. If you cannot participate fully in EPFP, please do not complete the application.

Be sure to provide a phone number where we can reach you this summer in case we need to follow up with any questions. Thank you

FIVE QUESTIONS

Please provide responses of one or two paragraphs to each of the following questions to help us get to know you better.

1. What does your organization do? Whom does it serve?
2. How would your participation in EPFP benefit your organization?
3. On a scale of 1-10 (one lowest/weak to 10 highest/excellent) how would you rate Colorado's public education? Circle one - 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10
4. On the line provided, name an education policy of special concern to you (examples – you might write early childhood education; or school finance; or academic achievement; or school choice; or school governance; or dropout and graduation rates; or college readiness/remediation of high school graduates):

Then on a scale of 1-10 (one lowest/weak to 10 highest/excellent) how would you rate how well Colorado is addressing this issue? Circle one - 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10

5. Provide a thoughtful response to one of these two prompts:
 - A. What policy issue in Colorado concerns you most at this time, and what major changes would you like to see—and why? (If you already have experience in bringing about such reforms, please include in your response.)

Or
 - B. Over the next five to ten years, on what issue of education policy and practice would you like to have a significant impact – and why? What are the two or three main changes you would like to see? What role do you see yourself playing in bringing about such changes?

EPFP is a program of
THE INSTITUTE FOR EDUCATIONAL LEADERSHIP

The Institute for Educational Leadership (IEL) is a non-partisan, not-for-profit organization established in 1964.

OUR VISION:

IEL envisions a society that uses its resources effectively to achieve better futures for all children and youth.

OUR CORE PRINCIPLES:

- Leadership development and professional development are necessary to prepare people with knowledge, skills and abilities to help children and youth succeed.
- Culturally competent leaders are vital to empowering organizations to address the needs of a diverse society.
- Quality education is a responsibility shared by school systems, families, communities, businesses and governments.
- The results we seek for our children and youth must guide our work with them.
- Strategic alliances and partnerships are essential to achieving measurable and sustainable outcomes.

OUR CHALLENGE:

Our national task is obvious. We must increase student achievement and prepare young people to meet the challenges of the 21st century. The future quality of American life is at stake.

OUR MISSION:

IEL's mission is to equip leaders to work together across boundaries to build effective systems that prepare all children and youth for post-secondary education, careers, and citizenship. Through EPFP, IEL seeks to develop, support and sustain broad-based, multi-cultural leadership to achieve better results for children and youth.
