

Dear <<First Name>>,

FPIN's Editorial Management System (EMS) is here! With the July 1 launch date just around the corner, we wanted to take this time to highlight some of the key things that would be important during this exciting transition.

What is the EMS?

The EMS is an online editorial management system. Overall, it will lead to a more efficient editorial process and a faster turn-around time to publication for authors and their writing projects. Click below for a sneak peak at some of the amazing features of the EMS!

How do I know if it affects me?

HelpDesk Answers authors who have a first draft due on or after July 15, 2015 will receive an invitation from the EMS to submit their draft for review. However, authors who have a first draft due prior to July 15, 2015, will continue in the manual process and maintain all communication through hda@fpin.org.

What's next?

In preparation for the launch, FPIN has been working on crafting comprehensive author instructions and audio/visual video tutorials to help members learn the system. In addition to that, there will also be an EMS Help page hosted on the FPIN website for authors to access if they require extra support.

We will be sending out links to author instructions and access to video tutorials in the next couple of weeks. In the meantime, any questions regarding the EMS can be directed to Adelina Colbert by calling 573-256-2066 or by emailing Adelina@fpin.org.

We are excited to launch this new initiative with you!

Best wishes,
