

STRATEGIC PLANNING SURVEY

Dear Fellow ABA Member:

The American Booksellers Association is guided by a long-term strategic plan that reflects the expressed interests and wishes of our members. October 1, 2007, will mark the beginning of a new five-year plan, which will both provide the road map for the allocation of funds and guide the activities of your association.

The Strategic Planning Committee has been hard at work gathering information and input from various groups of member booksellers in order to inform the new plan. Now, they need your input regarding ABA's activities moving forward.

The survey below asks your opinion on a variety of potential priorities. We are asking you to complete two tasks:

1. Please rank the list of activities against one another to help us determine your opinion as to the relative importance of the items. (1 = the most important, 20 = the least important when compared to the rest of the list. In this exercise, you CANNOT use the same number twice.)
2. Please rate the list of activities as to their absolute importance. (1 = most important, 10 = least importance. In this exercise, you CAN repeat numbers.)

Please feel free to add up to four additional areas you would like ABA to pursue.

Please note that you will be able to voice your opinions in person and to hear how the rest of your fellow booksellers responded, and add any additional comments you may have at the ABA member forums held all across the country in the Spring and at the annual Town Hall meeting to be held at BookExpo America next June in New York. In addition, if you are attending one of the regional association Fall shows do not hesitate to stop by the ABA booth to share your views. Your individual responses will remain confidential.

On behalf of the full ABA Board, thank you for taking valuable time to help your association help you.
