What Are Millennials? Millennials were born between 1980 and 2000, you are a millennial. Millennials are also referred to as Generation Y. Millennials currently account for 33% of the nation's workforce with this number expected to increase to 50% in 10 years

Millennials came of age as the internet boomed and the economy bottomed out. They're digital natives and fickle consumers with expectations grounded in best-in-class brand devotion. It is rumored that they will now have the highest spending power of any generation.

And they are a vital part of your business's future!

During this seminar, Ms. Norton will lead a discussion with a panel of millennials that are in different stages of life. This seminar will provide you an opportunity to get into the minds of millennials and learn what's important to them when it comes to making personal, financial and career decisions and meeting their goals. The goal of the seminar is to allow for the audience to listen and ask questions in order to gain a better understanding of what motivates millennials. Space is limited! Register today!
