

SILICA TRAIN-THE-TRAINER COURSE

On June 23, 2017, OSHA's silica rule will be implemented. All jobsites will be required to have:

1. A written exposure control plan.
2. A competent person who has been trained on the exposure control plan and silica on a jobsite.

The MCAA's Silica Train-the-Trainer Course is a six-hour program that will train a key employee to train other employees to be a competent person with regard to the written exposure control plan.

Certificates will be provided to those who complete the program.
