

Elizabeth Moody is the Head of Strategic Partner Development for Music at YouTube where she focuses on business development generally and on managing relations with YouTube's music partners, including record labels and music publishers of all sizes. Prior to joining YouTube, Elizabeth was an attorney with Davis Shapiro Lewit & Hayes where she spent years offering business and legal advice to new and existing digital media services of all types.