

Alexis Shapiro is currently Senior Vice President, General Counsel & Secretary at The Orchard, a pioneering independent music and video distribution company operating in more than 20 markets around the world. The Orchard provides an innovative and comprehensive sales and marketing platform for content owners. With an industry-leading technology platform, The Orchard's creative, tailored approach streamlines its clients' distribution operations while amplifying reach and revenue across hundreds of digital and mobile outlets, as well as physical retailers in North America and Europe.

Alexis is the Orchard's chief legal officer, overseeing Orchard's legal, corporate governance and strategic intellectual property functions. Prior to joining The Orchard, Alexis was an associate at Pryor Cashman LLP focusing on mergers and acquisitions, venture capital transactions and securities. Alexis received her J.D. from Boston College Law School and B.A. in government from Smith College.