PROVIDING COMMUNICATIONS ACCESS TO DEAF PATIENTS: MYTH & REALITY

A major concern facing physicians today involves communication access for patients who are deaf. Government agencies and advocacy groups are scrutinizing medical practices to ensure that they are in full compliance with the complex and conflicting laws and regulations regarding deaf communication access.

Having represented physicians and health care facilities in court for more than twenty years, Roy Breitenbach, Esq., Garfunkel Wild, P.C., will share information for avoiding problems in this area.

Join FCMA on Wednesday, March 29, from 12 noon until 2:00 p.m., at the Norwalk Inn and Conference Center, where he will discuss in detail:

- Common – and dangerous – misunderstandings that many physicians have about disability access compliance.
- Pitfalls to avoid regarding disability access compliance, particularly for the deaf.
- How to audit your medical practice and its policies and procedures, to minimize the risk of non-compliance.
- How to turn the issue of disability access compliance into a positive by generating favorable publicity and an increased flow of patients with disabilities.
- Obligations under the Americans with Disabilities Act and Section 1557 of the Affordable Care Act.
