

Shiow-Ching Shun, RN, PhD

Shiow-Ching Shun, RN, PhD, currently is an Associate Professor at school of nursing in National Taiwan University. She got her PhD degree from the University of Utah at Salt Lake City in USA. She is devoted to oncology nursing for over 20 years. Her research interest centers on helping cancer patients in dealing with symptom distress during cancer trajectory, especially in fatigue. She has published a series of papers related to cancer-related fatigue. In order to help patients to manage their fatigue, the care model with fatigue management is testing on patients with liver, gastric or colorectal cancer in several grants supported by National Science Council in Taiwan.