American Foundations in Europe: Archival Insights

Arnd Bauerkamper
Freie Universität Berlin, Germany

Diana Leat
Rockefeller Archive Center, UK

Ludovic Tournes
Université Paris Ouest Nanterre La Défense, France

European scholars have been exploring the archives of U.S. foundations since shortly after the opening of the Rockefeller Archive Center in 1975. They have studied the impact of American philanthropy on the social sciences, public health, medicine, and international relations, among other fields. They have examined the role of foundations in the inter-war years, during post-war reconstruction and the Cold War. Their archivally-grounded work is reshaping our understanding of U.S. foundation roles and of foundation interactions with European institutions. This session will bring together scholars from France, Germany and the UK to discuss their work.
