March 2016

Located in the heart of Greenwich Village, The New York University (NYU) Bookstore features author readings and community events.

NYU is home to many different schools and departments in the arts, sciences, and humanities. Among our events we showcase NYU's distinguished faculty; the University's various departments co-sponsor local and international authors.

Since the summer of 2010, our events space has served as a literary and academic hub to our diverse community. We are proud to have partnered with trade, academic, and independent publishers in hosting book launches, poetry readings, writing workshops, and publishing panels.

Past events have included such luminaries as E.L Doctorow, Zadie Smith, Pete Hamill, David Lehman, Charles Simic, Sister Souljah, and Danielle Ofri.

Offsite events include the World Science Festival, PEN World Voices, and Poets Forum of the Academy of American Poets.

We gladly offer:

- free events that are open to the public
- 90 seats, plus standing room
- 25 in-store and 45 off-site events per academic semester
- Average attendance : 40-50 guests
- 20% off discount on presenters' books
- light refreshments

Publicity for our events can be found in the local media:

- NY TimeOut
- The New Yorker
- NYTimes
- Village Voice
- The Villager
- Office of Public Affairs @ NYU

We hope you can join us!
