NEW REPORT THE NEW BATTLEGROUND Immigration in the States – The Outlook for Business

Washington, DC – In the wake of Congress's failure to pass comprehensive immigration reform, state authorities have rushed to fill the vacuum. Arizona and Oklahoma set the pace last year with two of the nation's harshest enforcement bills. State lawmakers across the country campaigned on a promise to pick up where Arizona and Oklahoma left off. And in this winter's legislative sessions, measures targeting businesses that employ immigrant workers were introduced in virtually every state. How did these measures fare? How is business reacting? And what will the consequences be - for employers, immigrants, American workers and the US economy? ImmigrationWorks USA answers these questions and more in a new report, "The New Battleground: Immigration in the States - the Outlook for Business."

The report is posted on the web at ImmigrationWorksUSA.org.
