DIGITAL LEADERSHIP AND INNOVATION

PRESENTED BY:

Deanna Mayers, Pennsylvania ASCD
Executive Director

Throughout the course, learners will be introduced to a variety of types of instructional technology and innovation instructional leadership strategies that focus on example programs to advance the technical skills of both digital leaders and for those educators in which they supervise.

Course goals:

1. Define innovation and describe how innovation looks and feels in a classroom or school.
2. Analyze the changes you could make that would strengthen relationships and empower teachers and learners to take risks.
3. Compare where you are now as a digital leader to where you need to go and construct a plan for how to get there.

The program utilizes the text The Innovator's Mindset: Empower Learning, Unleash Talent and Lead a Culture of Creativity by George Couros.

Recommended for Assistant Superintendents, Curriculum Directors, Principals, Teachers, Counselors, Instructional Coaches and other Instructional Leaders.
