PSSNY Member Tom Wojciechowski's Family Pharmacy defies the corporate pharmacy trend

GLOVERSVILLE - For the second time in his life, Tom Wojciechowski is the owner of a small, independent pharmacy.

A few weeks ago, Wojciechowski opened Tom's Family Pharmacy at 47 S. Main St. For those who remember, that's the site of the former Del Negro Pharmacy, which Tom was the owner of for 20 years. Tom can't call his new business Del Negro's because he sold that name to Rite Aid Corp. in 2008, along with his customer list and a guarantee that he not reopen a pharmacy at his former location for at least five years. Report on Pharmacists' Expanded Roles

Avalere Health has released a new report, “Exploring Pharmacists’ Role in a Changing Healthcare Environment. The report looks at the body of research and other evidence of pharmacists’ services that improve patient health. This document is significant as the analysis was done by an impartial organization who took an objective look at the most recent US research articles on pharmacists services, including medication management, medication reconciliation, preventive services (screening and immunization), education and behavioral counseling, and collaborative care models. Access the press release from the national pharmacy associations for more information.
