

EXECUTIVE

A Program of

High
Altitude
Leadership

June Drewry

CIO Hall of Fame member &
Co-Director, Institute for 21st Century Learning

Kevin Ryan

Prominent RLF Facilitator &
Co-Director, Institute for 21st Century Learning

Early Registration Discount For 2018 Executive RLF

SIM members can save $950 on the program when registering by December 31st

With the year's end quickly approaching and many organizations looking to move budget allocations into 2017, a special savings opportunity is available now through December 31 for the 2018 Executive RLF program.

A \$500 Early Registration Discount is available if registration occurs through December 31, 2017. Plus, SIM members will receive an additional $450 discount for a total of $950 savings on the 2018 program.

June Drewry, retired CIO of Chubb, and Kevin Ryan, longtime RLF facilitator, will be the Program Leaders for next year's program in St. Petersburg, FL. The 2018 offering will provide a months-long opportunity for RLF graduates to undertake a deep dive into the topics and skills required to build higher altitude leadership competence ... including discussions and presentations from leading C-level executives, best-selling authors and university level professors and leaders

The 2018 Executive RLF will consist of four 2-day sessions from August – December, featuring an array of high altitude leadership topics and speakers. Additionally, continuous interaction with experts and program leaders will take place throughout the program.

Participants in the program will be RLF graduates operating at the senior level with significant experience leading others.