HSCA NAMES PROVISTA CEO JIM CUNNIFF TO THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Organization Applauds Retiring Provista CEO Dan Thomas for His Service to HSCA Board

Washington, DC (May 17, 2017) – The Healthcare Supply Chain Association (HSCA), which represents the nation’s leading healthcare group purchasing organizations (GPOs), today announced that Provista CEO, Jim Cunniff, has joined the HSCA Board of Directors as a new member. The appointment follows the retirement of former Provista CEO, Dan Thomas, whom HSCA thanked for his service to the organization and the healthcare supply chain.

“Jim Cunniff is a healthcare veteran with more than 25 years of experience in the pharmacy and medical device industries and will bring valuable perspective to the HSCA Board at a time of great change for the healthcare system,” said HSCA President and CEO Todd Ebert, R.Ph. “We look forward to working alongside Jim as we continue in our mission to lower health costs and raise the bar for competition and innovation in the market, so that healthcare providers can focus on their core mission: providing first-class patient care.”

Prior to joining Provista in 2017, Jim Cunniff served as the CEO of Leiter’s, an FDA 503B Outsourcing Facility focusing on sterile drug compounding. He previously served as SVP, Americas for Acelity, where he was responsible for overseeing their $1B commercial operations, guiding the organization through industry disruption, and implementing innovative corporate strategies. Additionally, Jim held a variety of leadership roles with Stryker Corporation to include: President Emerging Markets, President Pacific, President South Pacific and President Medical.

“HSCA applauds Dan Thomas for his years of service to the HSCA Board and his contributions to the healthcare supply chain. Dan’s stewardship of the supply chain has been invaluable and we wish him the very best in retirement,” added Ebert.
