About the STC:

The Synthetic Turf Council (STC) is truly representative of a major cross section of the marketplace in North America. Its influences run deep – including the development of a solid Code of Ethics and the granting of the STC Certified branding for qualified member companies.

The Synthetic Turf Council has become the effective and trusted voice of the synthetic turf industry, and has established itself as a solid self-governing body – regularly disseminating factual, objective, independent information and research. Its open dialogue and information sharing with the CPSC and EPA helped all organizations reach quick decisions about the human health and environmental safety of synthetic turf.

With continued growth in both new and replacement synthetic turf installations, now is the time to lend your professional design, architecture or engineering voice to this young and dynamic industry. Stay in touch, add value and help define the future of synthetic turf in North America with your membership in the Synthetic Turf Council.

Membership Offers:

- Peer-to-peer networking with over 200 industry leaders and at its two membership meetings, including manufacturers and suppliers, independent consultants, system builders, testing laboratories, and more.
- The opportunity to learn about and influence synthetic turf innovation and guidelines for the industry.
- Convenient access to new industry information, unique branding opportunities, and a higher level of education for buyers and end-users of synthetic turf.
- Sub-base contractors (who do not build sports fields) can join the STC for $1,500 per year.
