In 1998, SCANPO’s first statewide conference had over 100 attendees. It is now known as South Carolina’s Nonprofit Summit and will draw over 600 attendees. The Summit is one of the largest statewide gatherings for nonprofit leaders in the country and includes plenary sessions with nationally known keynotes, over 40 breakout sessions, site visits, receptions and exhibitors.

Below is a list of SCANPO’s past summit themes and keynote speakers.

A LOOK BACK

In 1997, the South Carolina Association of Nonprofit Organizations (SCANPO) began operating with 67 chartered member organizations, providing them with regional meetings and workshops. One year later, a toll-free hotline was created to offer timely assistance to the growing membership. Over the next 20 years, the organization would expand its network so that in 2017 it currently serves 800 members, strengthening the state’s nonprofit community and bringing together leaders from a diverse network of nonprofit organizations and their allies to address a mutual goal: to move forward, together, for good.
Dear SCANPO Members and Friends,

It seems appropriate that the last letter we write as SCANPO should be one celebrating 20 years of amazing work.

It’s hard to believe that two decades have already passed since a group of chart-coursing, forward-thinking nonprofits leaders came together to create our state’s association for charitable organizations. Our collective accomplishments since that day are too numerous to count but certainly worthy of a celebration. We’ll celebrate during this morning’s Annual Membership Meeting, again, at 5:30 p.m. today during our 20th Anniversary Reception and all year long.

Please take time to peruse this document that highlights our journey over the past 20 years. We honor those who came before us and their accomplishments. We also celebrate the commitment of our member organizations, especially our founding members whose names are in bold on the memeber list that follows.

Since 1997, nonprofit leaders have been coming together through SCANPO to learn and assist one another. What better way to celebrate this good work than to unveil an exciting new vision, mission and name – a new brand that will represent us for years to come as we expand our work together. As you will hear this morning, it is a vision made real by exciting new resources, opportunities, and partnerships – all aimed at giving our nonprofit community the support, knowledge, resources, public trust and legislative backing necessary to achieve our collective work.

We exist to unite, strengthen and advance our state’s charitable nonprofit organizations, so that they may enrich the quality of life for all our citizens. Thank you for joining us in this work.

As always, we are... Together. For Good.

Madeleine McGee
SCANPO President
SCANPO’s growth and leadership is due in large part to the strong guidance and governance provided by its Board of Directors. We are especially grateful for SCANPO’s Board Chairs, listed below with their terms of service and the executive directors with whom they worked.
