Illusion, Wonder & You David Reed-Brown is a professional speaker and entertainer who gives people hope through the art of magic. He has been ordained clergy for twenty years and is an interfaith chaplain. He tells wonder-filled stories from life that enlighten, teach and celebrate what it means to be human; overcome challenges; be our truest selves; challenge assumptions, and nurture gratitude, diverse friendships and acts of compassion. He offers a classic magic show that is uplifting and interactive. In his performance members of the audience work wonders. A woman floats herself in mid-air. A four-year-old does sleight of hand. A grandmother with memory issues reads his mind, and from his hands he fills the stage with a rainbow of butterflies.

Proceeds raised will help support the VSEPS Education Fund. This charitable foundation supports research, scholarship, continuing medical education, and professional development for residents, ophthalmologists and their staff members.
