PRECONFERENCE WORKSHOP ON GRANTS

1:00 p.m. – 4:00 p.m., ($100 additional fee includes lunch beginning at noon)

Improving Your Grant Getting Success

This three-hour workshop is designed to assist consortium leaders and staff members in all stages of planning, developing, drafting, revising and providing post-award stewardship for grant proposals to optimize success in getting grants. After a brief panel presentation of best practices by experienced higher education and consortium grant writers/managers, the panelists and consortium leaders experienced in getting grants will provide small group mentoring and facilitate mutual mentoring for participants who are working on grant proposals at similar stages of development.

Our goal is to provide mentoring in small groups of individuals facing challenges at similar stages with a ratio of one mentor to no more than 3-4 group members. Hence enrollment will be limited, perhaps to 20 or 24 participants.

Workshop mentors/organizers include experienced leaders of higher education collaborations and experienced development professional, all with successful records of developing proposals that earned external support.

Breakfast Available

7:30 a.m. – 8:30 a.m.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 19, 2017 (con't)

Plenary Session: Presidential Perspectives on Sustainable Partnerships

8:45 a.m. – 10:15 a.m.

A panel of college and university presidents from New York area consortia will share their insights on what makes collaboration sustainable over time, and how they ascertain the value of collaborative partnerships.

What kinds of collaborations do presidents view as sustainable over time? How do presidents assess the value of collaboration? How is collaboration tied to institutional mission and vision? What are the challenges of collaboration from the presidents' point of view? How do consortia maintain momentum in times of leadership transition?

Moderator:

Amy Cronin, Executive Director, New York Six Liberal Arts Consortium

Panelists:

Stephen Ainlay, President, Union College

Rev. James Maher, President, Niagara University

Break

10:15 a.m. – 10:30 a.m.

CONCURRENT SESSIONS

10:30 a.m. – noon

1: Two Models of Academic Research Collaborations (Academic Collaboration)

What are the most important factors to consider before launching a research collaboration? How do you lay the groundwork? Who should be involved and when? What are the markers for success? How do you assess the outcomes? What about funding? Learn how two consortia are answering these questions through their research projects.

Moderator:

Tracy Thompson, former executive director, NELLCO

Panelists:

Martha Cooper, Big Ten Academic Alliance, Project Coordinator, Big Ten/Ivy League Traumatic Brain Injury Research Collaboration

Christine Carpino, Research Coordinator, Lehigh Valley Research Consortium

Hannah Stewart-Gambino, Director, Lehigh Valley Research Consortium

2: Making the Most of Business Collaborations (Administrative Collaboration)

Getting the most out of business collaborations goes beyond immediate return on investment. Ensuring a better bottom line requires attention to process and people. Several examples highlight approaches and strategies that maximize buy-in and results.

Moderator:

Amy Cronin, Executive Director, New York Six Liberal Arts Consortium

Panelists:

June Kevorkian, Director of Program and Administration, The Boston Consortium

Christine Kimball, Director of Strategic Procurement, Five Colleges of Ohio

Katy Thomas, Strategic Partnership Director, Lehigh Valley Association of Independent Colleges

Lunch and ACL Committee Conversations

Noon – 1:30 pm

Learn more about the work of the ACL Committees by joining lunch table discussions with committee leaders.

Sponsor Spotlight

1:30 p.m. – 1:45 p.m.

CONCURRENT SESSIONS

2:00 p.m. – 3:30 p.m.

1: Sustaining Language Instruction through Course Sharing (Academic Collaboration)

Panelists will share strategies for maintaining language learning opportunities for both classroom-based instruction and tutorials, for commonly taught languages and less commonly taught languages (LCTLs) involving inter-institutional sharing of courses and instructors. We will offer examples from neighboring campuses and widely separated campuses and for similar institutions and significantly different institutions. Panel members will discuss lessons learned and advise on best practices for exploring and implementing these kinds of sharing.

Moderator:

Neal Abraham, President, Five Colleges Consortium

Panelists:

Emily Heidrich, Project Manager, Michigan State University; Big Ten Academic Alliance – Big Ten Less Commonly Taught Language Partnership

Koen Van Gorp, Head of Foreign Language Assessment, Center for Language Teaching Advancement, Michigan State University; Big Ten Academic Alliance – Big Ten Less Commonly Taught Language Partnership

G. Cory Duclos, Director, Keck Center for Language Study, Colgate University; New York Six Course Sharing Initiative

Nicole Simpson, W. Bradford Wiley Professor of Economics and Associate Dean of the Faculty for International Initiatives, Colgate University; New York Six Course Sharing Initiative

Christopher Kaiser, Program Manager, Columbia University; Sustaining Course Initiative for Columbia, Cornell and Yale

2: Using Technology to Develop and Manage Collaboration (Administrative Collaboration) How are consortia using technology to develop and manage collaboration? This session's facilitators will demonstrate three applications integrated to promote--and track--stakeholder engagement in collaborative work: Salesforce for customer relationship management; Pardot for communication engagement; and Canvas as a learning management system to promote administrators' engagement with faculty. Attendees will be engaged to "show and tell" their own tech solutions, working with each other to tackle common challenges. We will give special consideration to approaches that are realistic to expect for new, small and lesser-resourced consortia.

Facilitators:

Kiernan, Executive Director, The Collaborative on Academic Careers in Higher Education (COACHE)
Lauren Scungio, Engagement Manager, The Collaborative on Academic Careers in Higher Education (COACHE)

Break

3:30 p.m. – 3:45 p.m.

Sponsor Spotlight

3:45 p.m. – 4:00 p.m.

Plenary: Strategic Planning in Dynamic Times

4:00 p.m. – 5:30 p.m.

As transitions take place more frequently within collaborative organizations, how should the consortium handle strategic planning efforts? Are there best practices? This interactive panel will explore principles of effective planning within an ever-changing environment. The session will invite in advance specific situations faced by consortium directors and staff in order to generate discussion and practical guidance.

Moderator:

Beth Moy, Executive Director, Southeastern Pennsylvania Consortium for Higher Education

Panelists:

Stig Lanneskog, Chief Executive Officer, Claremont University Consortium
Kevin Kennedy, Director of Communications, Five Colleges Consortium

Dinner with Colleagues in Albany

6:30 p.m.

Sign up sheets will be available to join with others.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 20, 2017

Breakfast available

7:30 a.m. – 8:30 a.m.

Plenary: Building Trust through Collaborative Activity

8:45 a.m. – 10:15 a.m.

Leaders agree that trust is key to any collaboration. How do leaders strengthen trust within a competitive environment? Can it be accelerated? Bringing together the literature with interviews among many consortium leaders, key findings will stimulate active discussion with experienced leaders about strategies for building trust among multiple stakeholders.

Moderator:

Beth Moy, Executive Director, Southeastern Pennsylvania Consortium for Higher Education

Featured Speaker:

James Yankech, Ascension College Solutions

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 20, 2017 (con't)

Panelists:

Irene Burgess, Executive Director, Pennsylvania Consortium of the Liberal Arts
Lindsey Interlante, Executive Director, Colonial Academic Alliance
Claire Ramsbottom, Executive Director, Colleges of the Fenway

Break

10:15 a.m. – 10:30 a.m.

Plenary: Assessing the Performance of Consortial Work by Assessing Stakeholder Needs and Interests 10: 30 a.m. – noon

Assessing the performance of any endeavor is a necessary component for success. Meeting stakeholder needs is a crucial piece of receiving fruitful assessment data and articulating return on investment. How do we in the consortial landscape: a) identify stakeholder needs and interests, b) deliver on stakeholder needs and interests, c) measure program impact and link outcomes to identified stakeholder needs and interests, and d) utilize assessment data to improve and replicate the program in question? This expert panel will reflect on these questions and share their insights and experiences across five different consortia.

Moderator:

Robert Diggs, Program Coordinator, Pennsylvania Consortium for the Liberal Arts

Panelists:

Michael Benitez, Jr., Dean of Diversity and Inclusion and Chief Diversity Officer, University of Puget Sound, member of the Northwest 5 Consortium
Amy Cronin, Executive Director, New York Six Liberal Arts Consortium
Kathleen "Kathy" Harring, Provost and Vice President of Academic Affairs, Muhlenberg College, member Lehigh Valley Association of Independent Colleges (LVAIC), and the Pennsylvania Consortium for the Liberal Arts
