The Hall House was constructed along the shores of Lake DeSmet over seven years ago. The house was designed for a recently retired couple to enjoy the lake and the distant views, bask in the solitude of the lake and most importantly, to celebrate their family. To capture all opportunities, the Owners elected to position the home very close to the lake's edge and provide views from every room. The house evolved to a three story home with an intimate roof top cupola which captures views of the lake, of Black Tooth Mountain and Cloud Peak. The four Bedroom 5 1/2 Bath home features an open floor plan, spacious volumes, warm and vibrant interior finishes as well state of the art comfort systems. The Owners also requested a very large garage with enough room to store a full size recreational vehicle. The 6,500 s.f. home is large enough to comfortably entertain large gatherings but intimate enough to relax in each other's company.

Renovation and Expansion to the Sheridan Senior Center

This project was constructed in three phases and maintained occupancy in portions of the facility throughout the entire construction process. Project initiatives included reorganization of the activities program, food services, administrative offices and multiple building additions. There were many challenges present with integrating the new with the old. The original building was constructed in 1980 and received previous building additions in 1990, 2001 and 2003.

The existing structure was re-purposed to the greatest extent possible. Upgrades to the exterior fenestration and facades on the east and south elevations create a refreshed appearance from Smith Street. The Hub's commercial food services required an addition to the building to accommodate the revitalized food preparation area and new commercial kitchen equipment. The Hub took this opportunity to revive the method of serving in-house meals; this changed the way patrons receive their meals. In turn, the dining room was fully renovated, and a full-service coffee bar was added in the lobby renovation/expansion.

Building systems were completely upgraded, inclusive of: HVAC, IT/WIFI/technology, digital displays, multi-media projection, sound systems and new LED lighting. In addition, the client desired to improve the security of the facility and access control.

All areas were reinvented with maximum flexibility and multi-use capability at the forefront of all decisions impacting this project. The public areas were developed with Dementia Friendly design considerations throughout.
