About Site: Providence House is one of the nation's oldest operating crisis nurseries among the 70+ in operation in the U.S. and Canada today offering emergency shelter and care to children who are actively at risk for abuse and neglect due to family crisis. More than a shelter for at-risk children, the agency offers holistic services for children and their families including education, mentoring, case management and aftercare focused on family preservation.

The Providence House provides round-the-clock services and emergency shelter for nearly 250 infants and children - newborn through age 10 - at risk of abuse or neglect each year from 24 hours to 90 days and include a range of case management and supportive services for both the children and their families, with a goal to stabilize, strengthen, and reunify each fragile family in our care.
