The tournament's semi-finals and finals events will take place June 11-12 in the Grand Ballroom at the Charlotte Convention Center, with ESPN broadcast taping of the semi-finals and finals at the close of the event.

Further, ESPN is committing more time to showing the GenerationPool.com 9-Ball Championships on ESPN and ESPN2 in 2008. After speaking with ESPN about the innovative changes developed for the tournament, they were thrilled to add two additional hours of programming for the event, meaning the event will air for a minimum of six hours. These additional hours of airtime will add more than 30 percent of first-run coverage shown on television.

Unclaimed product categories (chalk and rack) are still available, along with associated, non-competing ad placement on the arena scoreboard and sideline rotating banners. Bidding remains restricted to BCA members in good standing and more details may be requested by e-mail to Trish Chavez, BCA marketing director, at trish@bca-pool.com.
