State Association Honors the Best Among Career Colleges in Florida During 2011

TALLAHASSEE, FL – Sept. 1, 2011 – While Florida’s career colleges excel daily at providing quality education for some of the top job markets, the Florida Association of Postsecondary Schools and Colleges (FAPSC) recently honored the best from these schools.

FAPSC has a long history – more than 55 years – of representing Florida’s postsecondary colleges and schools. In total, 14 awards chosen from more than 100 nominations were presented during a ceremony at the FAPSC 2011 annual conference in South Florida.

From a stellar Graduate of a Year, awarded to Everest Institute-Kendall’s Sadie Fox, a Publix pharmacy technician who overcame great odds to succeed in her career, to the 2011 School of the Year – Central Florida’s Full Sail University, a leader in entertainment media training – the awards represented the best of what Florida’s career colleges have to offer.

“Our schools have great talent within their campuses, and this was our opportunity to showcase and applaud some of those successes from the past year,” said Kathy Mizereck, executive director of FAPSC.

Additionally, Full Sail also garnered the Administration & Management Administrator of the Year honors.

Other schools honored included staff members from American Institute in Margate, Anthem College in Orlando, Career Path Training Corp. in Tampa, Concorde Career Institute in Tampa, Everest University-Tampa, Florida Career College in West Palm Beach, Le Cordon Bleu College of Culinary Arts in Orlando, Ultimate Medical Academy in Tampa.
