Sullivan & Cogliano Training Centers receives top honors for Graduate of the Year and Faculty of the Year from State Association

MIAMI, FL – Sept. 16, 2013 – Sullivan and Cogliano Training Centers in Miami received two of the highest honors given to career schools by the Florida Association of Postsecondary Schools and Colleges (FAPSC) – the 2013 Graduate of the Year and Faculty of the Year awards.

Irene Arteaga was named a Graduate of the Year at the FAPSC Annual Conference held recently in South Florida. “Irene’s precision focus on the end goal, positive demeanor, and gracious attitude are her greatest assets,” said Curtis Austin, executive director of FAPSC.

Arteaga started at Sullivan and Cogliano Training Centers when she was at a crossroads in her life – looking for a job and in pursuit of the new skills and the education needed in the competitive workplace. Eager to learn and advance, she achieved near perfect attendance in pursuit of her goals. Her commitment and hard work paid off, graduating from the Microsoft Office Proficiency Program and transitioning in a month’s time to start with the City of Doral as an Office Clerk in the Finance Department.

Technology instructor Stacey Farrar was named FAPSC Faculty Member of the Year. “Farrar has the ability to not only see the big picture but to break down the pieces and parts so the students can easily understand concepts and perform with success. She brings a tremendous sense of work ethic, trust and great sense of humor to everything she does,” Austin said.

FAPSC has been the voice of Florida’s career schools since 1956. The association of more than 250 members works on behalf of the more than 1,000 licensed private career schools and colleges in Florida that prepare 400,000 students each year for employment in more than 200 occupational fields by offering degree programs, certification and training.

Sullivan and Cogliano Training Centers offers customized IT, office professional and medical assistant programs.
