1. Introduction

The International Federation of Fertility Societies (IFFS) is a global organisation representing the international clinical and scientific community of reproductive medicine. The IFFS was first established in 1951 and comprises of over 50 national professional societies whose members practise in this field. To undertake its business and further the aims and objectives of the IFFS it is necessary to have an administration supported by a committee structure. In order for this structure to function effectively it is essential that members of the committees make an active contribution to its work. This policy sets out the expectations placed on members of the IFFS committees

2. Definitions

a. IFFS Board of Directors

The Board of Directors is Board accountable to the General Assembly for the running of the IFFS. Its membership includes the officers of the federation together with the representatives of nine member societies. Its membership except the president is elected at the General Assembly.

6. Attendance at committee meetings

- a. It is understood that personal circumstances may dictate unavoidable absence however, given the infrequency of meetings (usually twice a year) attendance is expected to be 80%.

- b. If member society representatives are unable to attend they should make arrangements for another member of their society to attend in their place.

7. Failure to attend committee meetings

- a. Officers who fail to attend three consecutive meetings will be asked to consider their position. In the event they are unable to commit attendance to future meetings they will be required to relinquish their position.
- b. Member societies who fail to provide representation at three consecutive meetings will be asked to consider their position on the relevant committee. If they are unable to commit attendance they will be required to relinquish their position.

8. Termination of position

- a. Exclusion of a committee member may be recommended in the event of behaviour which conflicts with the aims and objectives of the IFFS or the principles set out in paragraph (4) above.
- b. If exclusion is considered necessary, the chair of the audit committee will be asked to undertake an investigation and provide a recommendation to the President.

9. Expenses for attendance at committee meetings

- a. Committee meetings are timed so as to coincide with regular major international meetings that members may plan to attend anyway (ASRM, ESHRE).
- b. Therefore, no expenses are provided for attendance at committee meetings other than permanent secretariat staff.
- c. The secretariat will provide confirmation of attendance at committee to enable those who are able to claim for their expenses.
- d. Member societies elected to committee should consider supporting their representatives to attend meetings.

10. Remuneration

- a. No remuneration is provided to committee members.
