

1989 ITAA Fellow – Anna Creekmore

Anna M. Creekmore, Professor Emeritus, Michigan State University, is a member of ACPTC, The Costume Society of England and the Costume Society of America including serving on the CSA Board of Directors in 1978-81, Textile Society of America, and the American Association of State and Local History. She has published several works in both measurement and in substantive content. She is author of Methods of Measuring Clothing Variables and senior co-author of Textile History: Readings. She has been identified as a scholar and mentor for whom superficial thinking was never sufficient, analysis and reasons were required.
