"I was dispatched to a single family home in a residential section of Lowell for a complaint of a dog sitting in a yard. I arrived and found what appeared to be a black and white male intact Papillon. He was biting at his hind end and crying so I at first thought he was infested with fleas. It was not until I got closer and he looked up that I noticed he was bleeding from his hind end. I proceeded to lift him into the vehicle and noticed that his tail was severed. I immediately brought him to Wignall Animal Hospital. Due to the nature of his injury, he was made comfortable and stable overnight but the fear of infection and loss of blood made surgery a necessity. He responded well to surgery and recovery and was able to be placed in a foster home for adoption."

- Darele Wood, Lowell - Animal Control Officer

Comet is now with a foster family. If you are interested in adopting him, please contact Pets in Need.
