

Mission

To develop and support the GIS professional in Minnesota for the benefit of our state and its citizens.

Activities

- Annual conference in October
- Workshops and other learning opportunities
- Professional development and networking events
- Access to GIS news through email, Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn

Membership is free!

Members include GIS/LIS professionals from local, state, and federal government agencies; business and industry; educational institutions; nonprofits; and students. Anyone can become a member by signing up at our website: www.mngislis.org

Participate!

Consortium members are invited to share their work and ideas at the annual conference or through social media. They can also volunteer to serve on committees and to help plan conferences, workshops and events. Such work makes a significant contribution and provides an opportunity to meet like-minded professionals. The Consortium is made possible by volunteers and everyone's participation is welcome.

MN GIS/LIS Consortium membership has many benefits for Students and Young Professionals!

Conference Opportunities

- Significantly reduced student registration rate
- Showcase your skills in the student poster competition
- Mentor program matches students and young professionals with a seasoned GIS/LIS professional to network and help navigate the conference
- Student assistant opportunities to help facilitate the conference and receive registration and lodging in return
- Student scholarship program recognizes and rewards student achievement
- Conference session on finding, applying, and interviewing for GIS jobs
- Learn how professionals are using GIS in Minnesota

Professional Development

- Network with GIS professionals at events throughout the year
- View GIS job opportunities at the Consortium website
- Stay current with GIS news through email, Facebook, Twitter, and LinkedIn
