

Bio – Michael Nemeth

My leadership characteristics include words such as Fair, Open, Respectful and Insightful. I strongly believe in being open to all ideas and thoughts, no matter their source and fair to all who bring those thoughts and ideas forward. No matter if the individual is a small town or large environment educator, everyone has incredible and valuable ideas. I continually practice and believe in open two-way (top – bottom – top) communication and strongly believe that as a leader you should be respectful to all, as you are not only representing yourself; you are representing an organization, a family, and a community. An individual's presence reflects on all and not just one. I am also a very insightful leader as I believe and practice that in order to grow and follow your organizations prescribed path, you must be able to look beyond its four walls at many new partnerships.
