

Biographical statement:

There is nothing nobler than serving others. As an EMS provider and educator for 32 years, I've learned that as we gain more experience, we are able to influence more lives in an educational capacity rather than one patient at a time. In order to become a profession, it is important for us to work towards common goals. Part of reaching that goal is devoting time to bettering our vocation. I believe that with my past provider experience in many types of EMS systems, I am uniquely qualified to represent the concerns of a very dynamic and large group of EMS constituents. I remain active as a prehospital provider, educator, and researcher, both in paid and volunteer capacities. As a charter member of NAEMSE, I have seen it grow from a small group of interested persons to a dynamic professional organization. I would be honored to serve on its board.
