Dear Contributor:

The American Association of Code Enforcement will host its 28th annual educational conference this year in beautiful Cincinnati, Ohio in the northern Kentucky area of Hebron. Traditionally, our association selects a local non-profit organization to receive all proceeds generated from fundraiser activities. This year, we are proud to announce the Cincinnati Shriners Hospital (CSH) as the 2017 non-profit recipient. We are especially excited because additionally, CSH Director of Professional Relations Debbie Harrell will kick off our opening session with a heartfelt key note address that you won't want to miss.

So we are challenging each of the municipalities attending the conference this year to bring a sports themed basket which may be auctioned or raffled off in an effort to help us record the highest amount collected in the history of our association on behalf of those families who are blessed to receive the medical services provided by CSH.

There will be prizes for the baskets that generate the top three highest amounts of proceeds. As always, your kindness is greatly appreciated and we will look forward to recognizing you in a list of contributors that will be shared with the entire membership. Those with a desire to donate anonymously will be silently honored, for we are grateful to all who give.

Additionally, The American Association is seeking donations for door prizes consisting of gift cards; specialty items and electronics (Items that will travel easily for attendees coming from across the United States).

Thank you in advance for contributing to the success of the 2017 American Association of Code Enforcement Annual Educational Conference.

Blessings,
