ESSAY COMPETITION GUIDELINES

- 1) The essay shall be an original work in English. Illegible, incomplete, forged or plagiarized entries will not be accepted. The Applicant is required to include a statement in the essay that this is his/her original work, that it arises out of the Applicant's own research, and that the work, assistance and ideas of any other people have been credited.

There is no set wording to give proper credit, but the following are suggested:

- a. If the essay results from research the Applicant has undertaken on his/her own:

"I certify that this essay is my own work, and that any ideas or quotations from the work of other people, published or otherwise, are fully referenced."

- b. When the Applicant's work has been supported by another:

"I acknowledge the helpful guidance and support of my teacher, Mr. X."

- c. The occasional use of the ideas of others can be covered in the body of the essay by:

"I am indebted to Ms. X for her insight on this issue."

- d. If the entire essay relies heavily on the work of another:

"This essay is heavily based upon the work of Mr. X."

- 2) The body of the essay shall be no fewer than 700 words and no greater than 1,200 words in length (excludes the title page, any footnotes, bibliography/references page, and biography page). Entries must be submitted in 12-point Times New Roman, or an equivalent font, be double-spaced, and with a one-inch margin on all sides of the page. Graphics are not permitted. An original copy of the essay must be submitted.
- 3) All submissions shall include a word count, as described in (2) above. Word counts based on a word processor are acceptable.
- 4) Essays must be submitted electronically as a PDF; essays submitted in any other format will not be considered.
- 5) The essay shall include the following four parts:
 - A) Title page
 - B) Essay pages
 - C) Bibliography/references
 - D) Applicant's biography
- 6) The title page, bibliography/references and Applicant's biography shall each be listed on separate pages. No reference to the Applicant's name or Applicant information should be made on the essay pages or bibliography/references to avoid any possible bias by the judges. Strict adherence to these rules is required. Essays that do not confirm to the rules may be disqualified prior to judging.
- 7) The title page shall include the title of the essay, the Applicant's name, address, telephone number, and e-mail address (if available). In addition, the title page shall include the Applicant's grade level, and name, address, and telephone number of the high school in which the Applicant is enrolled, or mention of whether the Applicant is home-schooled.
- 8) The essay shall include a bibliography with reference notes unless the American Psychological Association (APA) style of writing is used. Reference notes (footnotes or endnotes) give the sources of your information or ideas. Footnotes are placed at the bottom of the page where the information appears. Alternatively, you may gather all the notes at the end of the text as endnotes.

Citations in the bibliography or references should follow the guidelines of manuals such as the MLA Handbook for Writers of Research Papers or A Manual for Writers of Term Papers, Theses, and Dissertations. Typically an entry will have at least the name of the author or editor, the title of the work, and the date and place of publication. The bibliography should be arranged alphabetically by the last names of the authors.
- 9) Any essay using crowd-sourced and publicly editable sources such as Wikipedia will be disqualified!
- 10) The Applicant's biography is limited to one page. Recommended topics to be included are academic awards and achievements, school activities, community service projects and activities, hobbies, and plans for further education.

The essay should contain the following:

- 1) An introduction of the subject that contains an explanation of the position taken by the Applicant. The objective is to demonstrate that the Applicant understands the Contest question, and has formed a response to it.
- 2) The body of the essay develops the Applicant's argument using research and analysis. The process of analysis may include comparing and contrasting, differentiating among several ideas or events, critiquing a variety of perspectives, interpreting results, or drawing inferences. Be sure to identify the sources of your information or ideas.
- 3) A conclusion summarizes the research and analysis presented in the essay. Drawing on ideas already presented, the Applicant should demonstrate that the conclusion supports the position put forward in the body of the essay. The goal should be to convince the reader that the position is reasonable and valid.

Additional suggestions:

- 1) Essays that use a variety of sources, such as news magazines, newspapers, books, government documents, and publications from research organizations, fare better in the Contest.
- 2) The Internet or World Wide Web should not be the only source of information for your essay. Be aware of "republished" or "third generation" information on the Internet that is inaccurate or improperly attributed. When citing Internet sources, the Applicant must include the following information: author(s), title of work, Internet address, and date that the information was accessed. Detailed instructions can be obtained from the manuals listed in (8) above. For the purposes of this essay, Internet sources should be listed separately from non-electronic sources, such as books, journals, magazines, and newspapers.

Thank you in advance for your essay submission and good luck!
