46th Annual Meeting

Theorizing Criminal Justice: Practical Applications for the Field

March 10-14, 2009
Boston Marriott Copley Place
NOTICE TO ALL ATTENDEES

Pursuant to the ACJS Code of Ethics and ACJS Policies, all ACJS Annual Meeting attendees should be aware of the following:

1. All attendees at the ACJS Annual Meeting shall abide by the ACJS Code of Ethics. A copy of the Code of Ethics can be found on the ACJS website, www.acjs.org.

2. No attendee shall have on his or her person a weapon of any type.

3. Any organization hosting an event in an ACJS meeting room or any Annual Meeting attendee assumes entire responsibility and hereby agrees to protect, indemnify, defend, and save ACJS and its employees, officers, volunteers, and representatives from and against all claims, losses, and damages to persons or property, governmental charges or fines, and attorneys fees arising out of or caused by the use of meeting or other space, excluding any liability caused by the sole negligence of the Boston Marriott Copley Place or ACJS, its employees, officers, volunteers, and representatives. This includes participation in events held at the Annual Meeting where alcohol is served.

4. No Annual Meeting attendee shall, on the grounds of race, color, religion, gender, age, handicap, national origin, marital status, sexual orientation, pregnancy, or veteran status be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to, discrimination at this Annual Meeting.

5. No attendee shall be a disruptive influence in panel sessions, section meetings, or any other annual meeting events.

6. All individuals attending the Annual Meeting must pay a registration fee. Admission to all meeting events will be by badge or registration receipt only.

7. The following fees will be imposed for returned checks, and replacement badges and receipts:

- Returned Check $20.00
- Replacement Name Tag $ 5.00
- Replacement Receipt $ 5.00
March 2009

Dear Friends:

On behalf of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, welcome to Boston for the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences Annual Meeting.

Since 1963, the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences has provided a forum for professionals and scholars to discuss myriad issues facing in the field. I appreciate all the hard work and dedication you put into your profession and I am hopeful that you will continue to pioneer new methods and innovations in criminal justice.

During your time in Boston, I encourage you to visit and enjoy our many museums, historic sites and fantastic restaurants. Please accept my best wishes for a successful and informative conference.

Sincerely,
Dear Guests:

I am both pleased and proud that Boston has the pleasure to host the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences March 2009 Annual Meeting!

As you know, Boston is a dynamic city steeped in history, culture, and old world charm. Our city is also noted for its academic and medical excellence as well as cosmopolitan sophistication. Boston has an urban environment where high-rise symbols of tomorrow harmonize with cherished emblems of yesterday.

Our people come from diverse backgrounds and their heritage has helped to shape a distinctive city. We have unique neighborhoods reflecting heritages from every corner of the world. Known nationally as "America's Walking City," Boston has all the amenities of a big city, with the comfort and feel of a small town.

As Mayor, I invite you to share our vitality and take advantage of all that Boston has to offer during your stay. Our exceptional selection of world-class hotels, nationally acclaimed restaurants, outstanding attendee attractions, and extensive transit system make Boston the ideal city for the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences March 2009 Annual Meeting.

Please free to contact my office if I can be of any assistance. Once again, Welcome to Boston and we are thrilled that you have chosen to come to our great city!

Sincerely,

Thomas M. Menino
Mayor of Boston
All year long I have been singing Please Come to Boston (K. Loggins, 1974). Now I am happy to say, Welcome to Boston! We are especially glad you are able to attend this year and hope your conference experiences are both enjoyable and productive. Every conference plan has its obstacles to overcome and surprises along the way. Any of you that have been involved in the experience understand. Conference Program Chair, Barbara Sims, and Associate Program Chair, Wilson Palacios and many other volunteer ACJS members have been preparing for over a year for this week. Please let them know your appreciation of their extra efforts to make this a great week. If you have not had the opportunity to be involved in the planning and implementation of a national conference I encourage you to contact the national office or an Executive Board member and let them know of your interest.

This year we are pleased to announce the SAGE Junior Faculty Teaching Workshop Travel Awards. The funds will be used to support the travel and workshop participation of 17 ACJS members attending this year’s conference. The workshop is intended to engage attendees in discussions about the best practices associated with various pedagogical tools intended to increase higher order thinking in students. Your help in getting the word out to junior faculty members at your universities for next year will be most appreciated. Please join in me in taking a moment to express our gratitude by stopping by the SAGE booth in the exhibit hall and letting their representatives know we appreciate their efforts.

I am also grateful to the local arrangements committee members who have arranged a variety of special activities including “ride-alongs” with the Boston Police Department and tours of two correctional facilities. If you are a student I encourage you take advantage of the “free” lunch we will provide for students. We hope to be able to continue what has become a major investment for the Academy and hope you appreciate our commitment to your professional development. If you are a member of Alpha Phi Sigma, please know they have also worked hard to provide you with a variety of conference experiences; look for their registration table at the hotel for further event information. If you are a faculty member, we also have a number of receptions where food and drinks are available.

On Friday morning, the Research Showcase and Brunch will take place. Barbara Sims and Janice Ahmad have recruited a number of sponsors for this year’s “new and improved” event and I encourage you to drop by to see what surprises they have in store for you.

Throughout the year in newsletters and presentations at regional meetings I have challenged members to take their conference experiences more seriously. I thank all of those that have provided their panel chairs copies of their papers in advance of the conference. I hope that in the near future we can return to having assigned discussants for each panel.

It has been honor to serve as President of the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences. The hard work of our the Executive Board, Executive Director, Mittie Southerland and ACJS Manager, Cathy Barth continue to keep us financially sound and moving in a positive direction. For those of you in the membership not individually named here that helped me through the year please know it is a team effort and your help has greatly appreciated.

Most sincerely,

W. Wesley Johnson
President, ACJS
On behalf of President Wes Johnson and all of the members of the ACJS 2009 Program Committee, welcome to Boston! As you will see in this program, we have over 450 events planned. “Conferencing” is a time to present your own scholarly work, learn about the work of others, network with top criminal justice scholars, and visit with friends, former professors and/or students, and colleagues. Please take advantage of these opportunities because all of these are vital to a successful and rewarding conference experience. We especially welcome our student participants and hope that you will find this experience such that you will want to return again and again. In order to reduce your overall costs, we have planned a student luncheon on Wednesday.

The Research Showcase, scheduled for Friday from 10:00 a.m. to noon, returns! Janice Ahmad has worked to pull together this collection of scholarship that is presented in poster session format. We have over 100 presentations this year in the Research Showcase with no other events scheduled during this time. An "upscale" brunch will be available to all participants and attendees.

The Local Arrangements folks, Sean Varano and Pat Faiella, have done a fantastic job of providing opportunities to get out and see some of the local criminal justice sites. Sean and Pat also pulled together a team of student workers from Northeastern University and Massasoit Community College (respectively) to provide assistance at the conference. They also coordinated the efforts of other student workers from both Penn State Harrisburg and Salem State College.

I have been participating in ACJS annual meetings for almost 20 years. To some extent, I appreciated all the “behind the scenes” work that has gone into planning and implementing those meetings. Having now served as Program Chair, however, I think I will appreciate those efforts much more. One thing is for certain: this is a joint effort and the annual meeting cannot take place without talented people who are willing to volunteer their time, energy, and resources. First, it is crucial to recognize the ACJS Office Manager, Ms. Cathy Barth, and all that she does for ACJS when it comes to making sure that the annual meeting is a success. Second, Mittie Southerland, ACJS’ Executive Director, was there with me from the beginning and there was not a single question that I had that she could not answer. Third, the members of the Program Committee are the ones who put the panels together and with whom most of you had personal contact. I will be forever grateful for their support and hard work. Fourth, First VP Janice Joseph and her Program Chair (my Deputy Chair for this year), Wilson Palacios, were with me every step of the way. Of particular importance to me was their willingness to meet with me, Cathy, Mittie, and President Johnson at the ACJS National Office in November to put the program together. We poured over the availability of meeting rooms, tried to accommodate all special requests from you, worked to ensure that we were not scheduling topical area panels during the times when their sections would be meeting, etc. Having “all hands on deck” on that day was especially crucial. Fifth, special appreciation goes to my wonderful graduate assistant, Ms. Kida Salley. Kida was invaluable to me during this process and I am eternally grateful to her for her willingness to work with me on this task.

Finally, I would be remiss to neglect to recognize my School Director, Dr. Steve Peterson, and CJ colleagues at Penn State Harrisburg for their support. Steve is a champion of the Criminal Justice Program at Penn State Harrisburg and, as always, provided me with the necessary resources needed to do my job as Program Chair. In addition to assisting me with the program by serving on the Program Committee, my faculty colleagues allowed me to take time away from my responsibilities to the CJ Program in order to serve as the ACJS 2009 Program Chair.

To all participants......thank you for attending and for helping make this one of the best ever ACJS annual meetings. When you return home after the meeting, begin planning for beautiful San Diego next year!

JAMES GILBERT

To most people, Jim Gilbert seemed like an average Joe. A simple, easygoing, soft-spoken, private man who was a Civil War buff and for the last 20 years quietly taught criminal justice classes at the University of Nebraska at Kearney. But to those who knew him, Gilbert was so much more.

“He was one of the best professors we’ve ever had,” said Peter Longo, a political science professor at UNK and Gilbert’s best friend. “Jim had just a brilliant, innovative mind, and he certainly practiced what he preached.”

UNK’s Pratt-Heins Award winner in 1996 for outstanding scholarship and research, Gilbert wasn’t only an accomplished professor, he also was a well-known author. Since 1980, he has written eight editions of a college-level textbook.

Gilbert, 60, died Saturday, October 4, 2008, at his Kearney home following a lengthy battle with cancer.

Gilbert’s law enforcement career started long before he ever taught a class. He gained historical perspective for the job as a street officer with the Berkeley (Calif.) Police Department during the 1969 riot at People’s Park near the University of Berkeley. Although he rarely talked about the experience later in life, he referred to the uprising in his teachings. Gilbert also had brief stints with the Santa Monica, Calif., Police Department, and served as a security guard. He also received special agent training in Florida and graduated from the FBI academy in Quantico, Va.

“He had so many examples and life situations that he had been through that he could help us relate to,” said Brooke Terzi, who had numerous UNK classes with Gilbert. “He just loved the criminal justice field and wanted to share so much about it.”

In 1980, Gilbert penned the first in a series of eight college textbooks titled “Criminal Investigations.”

Gilbert taught criminal justice classes at Parkland College in Champaign, Ill., at Chadron State College, and at Radford, Va. Not long after he arrived at then-Kearney State College in 1988, Gilbert met Longo, and the two quickly became close friends. “We would talk on the phone like two teenagers,” Longo said with a laugh. “We thought we were the funniest guys. We appreciated each other’s humor.” He and Longo were known for carpooling to work nearly every weekend.

Gilbert served 13 years as the chair of UNK’s criminal justice department and mentored many other professors. He became UNK’s longest-serving criminal justice professor.

It was in his first year at KSC that Gilbert started the criminal justice conference. “He wanted to reach out to the public, and he thought the conference was a great opportunity to hold the department out to the rest of the state, and also bring in some fascinating speakers,” Longo said. Some of those speakers included forensic experts, an FBI profiler, an anti-terrorism director, a criminal investigator in the BTK killer case, Nicole Brown Simpson, and pro football hall of famer Jim Brown.

Gilbert also wrote countless papers, spoke at various crime-related conferences, wrote numerous scholarship and research grants, and either chaired or was active on various committees. He served as a consultant for law enforcement agencies in Nebraska and other states. “He was the one we all looked to for everything,” said Joe Carlson, who also taught criminal justice classes with Gilbert.

In the late 1980s, Gilbert and several students conducted a citizen survey about law enforcement in the Kearney area. He again provided insight to Kearney and Buffalo County law enforcement officials when they decided to co-locate in the 1990s. In 2005, Gilbert implemented a crime scene investigation lab for junior and senior criminal justice majors so they could get hands-on experience at solving crime. The lab is the only one in the university system, Carlson said. “All the hands-on-experience was fantastic to get before you get into the field,” Terzi said.

Despite his failing health, Gilbert continued to teach through the spring semester. The remainder of this semester and Gilbert’s 2009 spring classes will be taught by in-house faculty and adjunct professors. And even though he won’t be able to see it, Gilbert’s legend will live on when the eighth edition of his textbook is released in February and the criminal justice conference celebrates its 20th year in the spring.

WILLIAM P. HECK

The world lost an intelligent, caring, compassionate, non-judgmental, and very unique person when William Pipes Heck (known to many as Bill or Wild Bill) was killed in a motorcycle accident in Tulsa, Oklahoma on May 4, 2008. William "lived large" and was a proud veteran, passionate teacher, amazing sharp shooter, great guitar player, karate black belt and avid biker who enjoyed life more in one day than many people do in a lifetime.

William was born October 26, 1951 to Berlin and Elsie Pipes Heck of Calhoun, Louisiana. From the time he was young, he was always kind and caring, and would give away his clothes or any possessions if he thought someone needed them. His zest for living was evident in his activities over the years and he always treasured his many friends he acquired along the way. Through the years, he tried to maintain contact with his childhood friends as well as those from his years working in the Ouachita Parish Sheriff's Office and in the Monroe Police Department, his buddies from his years in the U. S. Navy Seabees, from his Karate Clubs, and from his college years (B.A. and M.A. at Northeast Louisiana University in Monroe, LA and his PhD at Sam Houston University in Huntsville, TX). He was passionate about his work as a professor in the Criminal Justice Department at Northeastern State University in Tahlequah, Oklahoma, and truly enjoyed the students there. William especially derived pleasure from playing his guitar (and writing songs like "Classical Dog" and "Mr. Blue"). He and Edi, his wife and the love of his life, always looked forward to the time they spent target shooting and riding with their motorcycle group of veterans.

William was preceded in death by his parents, Berlin and Elsie Heck, niece, Kerry Heck, and nephew, Robert Shipp. He is survived by his wife Edi, with whom he shared a home in Park Hill, OK, sons Justin Heck and Garrett Heck, and the mother of his children, Janice Feazel Downey, of Stillwell, OK, siblings: Elizabeth & Don Yielding, Charles Heck, and Kay Shipp of Monroe, LA, Berlin & Pat Heck of Broken Bow, OK, and Mary Ida Kay of Georgetown, TX.

Juvenile Justice Guide

by Edward A. Thibault, Ph.D. and John J. Maceri, M.S.W.

An Extremely Thorough Overview of the Juvenile Justice System
Entry – Prevention – Counseling

Major theories are reviewed and applied in a dynamic way to juveniles in trouble

Included:
11 Landmark Juvenile Case Reviews
- Ex Parte Crouse Philadelphia
- In Re Gault, Arizona
- In Re Winship, New York State
- McKeiver v. Pennsylvania
- Breed v. Jones
- Oklahoma Publishing Co. v. District Court
- Fare v. Michael C.
- Schall v. Martin
- New Jersey v. V.T.L.O.
- Roper v. Simmons

A Practical Handbook for:
- Juvenile Delinquency and Juvenile Justice courses
- Criminal justice college students and faculty
- Juveniles and professionals involved in the juvenile justice system
- Probation, juvenile parole and police officers
- Lawyers, social workers and youth workers

Answers These Questions:
- What does research say about family life and its impact on delinquency?
- How do juvenile sentencing guidelines differ from adult sentences?
- What are the agencies within the juvenile justice system and how do they work?
- What are the options for post-crime placement?
- What counseling methods are most effective?

The ICPSR Summer Program in Quantitative Methods of Social Research

2009 Workshops

Quantitative Analysis of Crime and Criminal Justice Data

Dates: June 23–July 18

Designed for faculty, professionals, and graduate students who wish to learn advanced quantitative data analysis methods practiced in the fields of criminology and criminal justice.

Competitively-selected participants will:

• Study methodology of major data collections sponsored by the Bureau of Justice Statistics including the National Crime Victimization Survey and various Uniform Crime Reporting System datasets
• Learn innovative statistical applications to analyze complex survey data
• Analyze data on one of any number of topics such as crime, victimization, law enforcement, sentencing, and correctional populations
• Design, conduct & present a quantitative research project
• Receive a lodging and travel stipend

Applicants must include a vita and cover letter describing their background and interest in using Bureau of Justice Statistics data resources housed at the National Archive of Criminal Justice Data. Review of application materials begins in early March. Space is limited to 12 students.

Details and application will be available in early 2009 at www.icpsr.umich.edu/sumprog.

The ICPSR Summer Program in Quantitative Methods is a comprehensive, integrated program of studies in social science research design and statistics. The workshops are held in Ann Arbor, at the University of Michigan, and are managed by the National Archive of Criminal Justice Data (NACJD) and sponsored by the Bureau of Justice Statistics (BJS), and the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention (OJJDP), U.S. Department of Justice.

Dates: June 1–3

8:30am Monday to 12:00pm, Wednesday

Topics: Trends in juvenile corrections populations at the national and state levels, the residential facilities that hold them, the variations in practices in place, and the services provided to young persons in custody.

Audience: State and local juvenile justice researchers, academic researchers, and policy makers at the local, state, and federal levels. Jurisdictional teams are welcome.

Purpose: This inaugural workshop will make a wealth of national data from OJJDP’s data collections from 1997–2006 available to researchers and practitioners along with the tools necessary to understand and use the data appropriately.

Objectives: Participants in this 3-day workshop will learn to analyze multi-year national data files on juvenile corrections using Secure Survey Documentation and Analysis (Secure SDA), a powerful online data analysis tool that enables descriptive to multivariate analysis of data from different surveys and over time.

Stipend: Stipend support of up to $1,000 for travel and living expenses is available for a limited number of students admitted to the workshop. The workshop is limited to 25 participants.
Announcing a New SJU Online Program

Master’s Degree in Criminal Justice

The Master’s of Science in Criminal Justice emphasizes theory and research to identify and affect change in the criminal justice system. Saint Joseph’s University is at the forefront of education in intelligence-led policing, all-crimes/all-threats analytical techniques, and federal law enforcement.

CALL FOR ENTRIES—2008 NEACJS STUDENT PAPER AWARD

We invite student participation in the Northeastern Association of Criminal Justice Sciences (NEACJS) Student Paper Award, given in recognition of outstanding scholarly work by students. Six awards are offered. Best papers by a graduate student (masters or doctoral level) will receive $175 and second place papers by a graduate student will each receive $150. Best papers by an undergraduate student will receive $125 and second place papers by an undergraduate student will each receive $100. Best papers by a community college student will receive $75 and second place papers by a community college student will each receive $50.

DEADLINE and CRITERIA

The student paper contest takes the students’ work out of the classroom and into the world of professional dissemination. Like submitting for publication or presenting at a conference. The paper is in the public realm. Editorial assistance, therefore, is encouraged to make the paper as good as it can be, according to the norms and standards of our criminal justice professional culture. Papers must concern a relevant criminal justice topic and may be conceptual and/or empirical. Faculty members should email an attachment of the student’s paper by April 25, 2009 to John Mockry, john.mockry@clinton.edu, in either MS Word or WordPerfect format, either Mac or Windows. In addition four printed copies, along with a cover letter stating the students name and email address, should be sent to the address below:

DEADLINE FOR ABSTRACTS: September 9, 2009
Crime and Justice Division

THE MIDDLE EAST and AFRICA: LAW ENFORCEMENT, COUNTER-TERROISM AND THE PROMOTION OF DEMOCRATIC IDEALS

Friday, March 13, 3:30 PM – 4:45 PM in Arlington, 3rd

Moderator: Mark Jones, East Carolina University
Mitchel Roth, Sam Houston State U. – Afro-lineal Organized Crime

Discussants: Tony Gaskew, University of Pittsburgh at Bradford; Jeffrey Rush, Austin Peay University; Matt Semel, Sacred Heart University; Sam Souryal, Sam Houston State

ASMEA is dedicated to promoting the highest standards of research and teaching in Middle Eastern and African studies, and related fields. It is a response to the mounting interest in these increasingly inter-related fields, and the absence of any single group addressing them in a comprehensive, multi-disciplinary fashion. Criminal Justice scholars with an interest in the Middle East and Africa are invited to attend this roundtable and explore terrorism, organized crime, and the other CJ issues found there.

More information about ASMEA will be available at this roundtable discussion.

ACJS
INFORMATION
Overview of ACJS

The Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences is an international organization established in 1963 to foster professional and scholarly activities in the field of criminal justice. ACJS promotes scholarly research and professional activities within the discipline of criminal justice for both educators and practitioners. The Academy also provides a forum for disseminating ideas related to issues in research, policy, education, and practice within the field. Additionally, the Academy offers sections that address special interests of the members.

The Academy attributes its success in creating this dynamic professional association to the composition of its membership. ACJS is comprised of members from a variety of backgrounds including:

♦ Scholars who are international in scope and multidisciplinary in orientation,
♦ Professionals from all sectors of the criminal justice system, and
♦ Students seeking to explore the criminal justice field as future scholars or practitioners.

Through the vital interchange of ideas among these groups, ACJS members develop and share knowledge about critical issues regarding crime, criminal and social justice.

Membership Advantages

♦ Subscription to Justice Quarterly, a quarterly journal devoted to the development of knowledge in the broad area of criminal justice. While the field of criminal justice is the primary focus of Justice Quarterly, scholarship and research in related areas are solicited. The journal provides a multidisciplinary forum for scholars using diverse methodologies to disseminate knowledge and innovations about justice issues and processes.
♦ Subscription to the Journal of Criminal Justice Education, a bi-annual journal devoted to criminal justice education and teaching.
♦ Subscription to the ACJS Employment Bulletin, posted on our web site at www.acjs.org. It offers a listing of professional employment opportunities in the field.
♦ Subscription to ACJS Today, the official newsletter of the Academy, published on-line four times per year. The newsletter provides information about a variety of criminal justice-related issues.
♦ Subscription to ACJS NOW, the ACJS twice-yearly publication filled with information and updates about ACJS, its publications, and regional organizations in a concise format, delivered to your mailing address.
♦ Professional growth, collegial contact, and networking opportunities through participation in the Academy’s Annual Meetings.
♦ An employment exchange at the Annual Meeting affords professionals the opportunity to share information and conduct employment interviews.
♦ Book exhibits at the Annual Meeting provide access to new criminal justice publications and publishing companies’ representatives.
♦ Discounts on advertising in the membership directory, Annual Meeting program book, and Employment Bulletin (applies to Institutional members only).
♦ Opportunity to participate in the leadership of the Academy through elected office and service on committees.

Sections Optional and Available to Academy members only.

♦ Community College: The Community College Section seeks to further the interests of community colleges, junior colleges, vocational/technical schools, two-year programs, and law enforcement and correctional academies.
♦ Corrections: The Corrections Section encourages research and theory development related specifically to this field.
♦ Critical Criminology: The Critical Criminology Section promotes empirical and theoretical work on the ways in which ethnic/racial, class, and gender inequality contribute to crime and social control.
♦ International: The International Section promotes international information exchange, criminal justice research, curriculum development, and general international networking.
♦ Juvenile Justice: The Juvenile Justice Section promotes communication between academics and practitioners as well as research and theory in the area.
♦ Law and Public Policy: The Law and Public Policy Section seeks to raise awareness of law and public policy concerns relevant to criminal justice issues.
♦ Minorities and Women: The Minorities and Women Section focuses on issues related to these populations.
♦ Police: The Police Section strives to build networks among police practitioners, researchers, and educators.
♦ Restorative and Community Justice: The mission of the organization is to provide a professional association academics, educators, justice agency practitioners, victim advocates, victim services interested in developing restorative and community justice theory; conduct policy relevant research on restorative and community justice practices; and educate individuals, organizations, institutions, and governmental entities about restorative and community justice principles and practices.

The Academy is a professional organization supporting affirmative action to ensure equal opportunities in programs, activities, and employment, regardless of race, religion, national origin, age, sexual orientation, and/or gender.

By joining the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences, members agree to comply with the Academy’s Code of Ethics. The Code of Ethics is available for review at www.acjs.org

ACADEMY OF CRIMINAL JUSTICE SCIENCES
P. O. Box 960
Greenbelt, Maryland 20768
Phone: (301) 446-6300 • (800) 757-ACJS • Fax: (301) 446-2819
Email: membership@acjs.org • Web: www.acjs.org
The Academy attributes its success in creating this dynamic professional association to the composition of its membership. ACJS is comprised of members from a variety of backgrounds including:

- Scholars who are international in scope and multidisciplinary in orientation,
- Professionals from all sectors of the criminal justice system, and
- Students seeking to explore the criminal justice field as future scholars or practitioners.

Through the vital interchange of ideas among these groups, ACJS members develop and share knowledge about critical issues regarding crime, criminal and social justice. For more information, please visit our website at www.acjs.org.

Membership Advantages

(Included in the One-Year Free Membership)

- Subscription to Justice Quarterly, a quarterly journal devoted to the development of knowledge in the broad area of criminal justice. While the field of criminal justice is the primary focus of Justice Quarterly, scholarship and research in related areas are solicited. The journal provides a multidisciplinary forum for scholars using diverse methodologies to disseminate knowledge and innovations about justice issues and processes.
- Subscription to the Journal of Criminal Justice Education, a bi-annual journal devoted to criminal justice education and teaching.
- Subscription to the ACJS Employment Bulletin, posted on our website at www.acjs.org. It offers a listing of professional employment opportunities in the field.
- Subscription to ACJS Today, the official newsletter of the Academy, published on-line four times per year. The newsletter provides information about a variety of criminal justice-related issues.
- Subscription to ACJS Now, the ACJS twice-yearly publication filled with information and updates about ACJS, its publications, and regional organizations in a concise format, delivered to your mailing address.
- Professional growth, collegial contact, and networking opportunities through participation in the Academy’s Annual Meetings.
- An employment exchange at the Annual Meeting affords professionals the opportunity to share information and conduct employment interviews.
- Book exhibits at the Annual Meeting provide access to new criminal justice publications and publishing companies' representatives.
- Opportunity to participate in the leadership of the Academy through elected office and service on committees.

Sections

(Optional; Membership Requires Section Dues Payment)

- Community College: The Community College Section seeks to further the interests of community colleges, junior colleges, vocational/technical schools, two-year programs, and law enforcement and correctional academies.
- Corrections: The Corrections Section encourages research and theory development related specifically to this field.
- Critical Criminology: The Critical Criminology Section promotes empirical and theoretical work on the ways in which ethnic/racial, class, and gender inequality contribute to crime and social control.
- International: The International Section promotes international information exchange, criminal justice research, curriculum development, and general international networking.
- Juvenile Justice: The Juvenile Justice Section promotes communication between academics and practitioners as well as research and theory in the area.
- Law and Public Policy: The Law and Public Policy Section seeks to raise awareness of law and public policy concerns relevant to criminal justice issues.
- Minorities and Women: The Minorities and Women Section focuses on issues related to these populations.
- Police: The Police Section strives to build networks among police practitioners, researchers, and educators.
- Restorative and Community Justice: The mission of the organization is to provide a professional association academicians, educators, justice agency practitioners, victim advocates, victim services interested in developing restorative and community justice theory; conduct policy relevant research on restorative and community justice practices; and educate individuals, organizations, institutions, and governmental entities about restorative and community justice principles and practices.
- Security/Crime Prevention: The Security/Crime Prevention Section promotes scholarship and academic offerings.

The Academy is a professional organization supporting affirmative action to ensure equal opportunities in programs, activities, and employment, regardless of race, religion, national origin, age, sexual orientation, and/or gender.

By joining the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences, members agree to comply with the Academy’s Code of Ethics. The Code of Ethics is available for review at www.acjs.org.

Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences

Certification for Academic Programs

The Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences Certification Standards for Academic Programs were approved May 2, 2005 and amended October 28, 2005 by the ACJS Executive Board. The goal of ACJS in adopting these Standards and implementing a Certification Review process is to measurably improve the quality of criminal justice education. For several years, ACJS had Minimum Standards for Criminal Justice Education and these standards were used in a peer review process through ACJS Academic Review. The new standards and process represent an evolution from “peer review” to “certification”. The ACJS Certification is designed to evaluate evidence-based compliance with the Certification Standards.

What do we mean by compliance with standards? The ACJS Executive Board will Certify those programs that undergo ACJS Certification Review and that have demonstrated, through substantive, credible evidence, the program meets or exceeds all parts of every standard. The emphasis is on evidence, not intention. Programs are required to provide evidence of program quality & effectiveness based on program outcome assessment.

The Certification Standards are broken into nine sections, each of which has specific Standards and Recommended Indicators. The sections are:

- A: Program Mission & History
- B: Program Structure & Curriculum
- C: Faculty
- D: Admission & Articulation
- E: Resources
- F: Student Services
- G: Integrity
- H: Program Quality & Effectiveness
- I: Branch Campuses, Additional Locations, and Other Instructional Sites

The Certification Standards for Academic Programs and Process for Undergoing Review are available for Associate, Baccalaureate, and Master’s degree programs. You can access these Standards at the following web addresses:

- Associate Degree Process and Standards - http://www.acjs.org/pubs/167_667_12020.cfm

The Application for Program Certification and other documents can also be downloaded from the Certification page on the ACJS website: http://www.acjs.org/pubs/167_667_3517.cfm
