GREETINGS:

It is my pleasure to join with the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences to welcome all those gathered for its 51st annual meeting in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Since its inception in 1963, the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences has been committed to promoting professional and scholarly activities in the field of criminal justice. The Academy has delivered educational programs that allow educators and practitioners to expand their knowledge, foster open dialogue about issues in criminal justice and advance research and policy analysis within the field. It is my hope that the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences will continue to serve the community as an advocate for criminal justice throughout the Commonwealth for years to come.

As Governor, and on behalf of all Pennsylvanians, I am pleased to welcome all those gathered for the 51st annual meeting. Please accept my best wishes for an enjoyable and memorable event.

TOM CORBETT
Governor
February 18-22, 2014
February 18, 2014

Greetings!

It is a pleasure and a privilege to welcome you to the 51st Annual Meeting of the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences convening in Philadelphia, February 18 – 22, 2014.

The Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences (ACJS) is an international association established to foster professional and scholarly activities in the field of criminal justice. Since its founding in 1963, the ACJS has promoted criminal justice education, research, and policy analysis within the discipline of criminal justice for both educators and practitioners.

The 51st Annual Meeting of ACJS brings together a membership representing diverse fields and backgrounds including scholars, professionals from all sectors of the criminal justice system, and students seeking to explore criminal justice fields as a career goal. The Annual Meeting provides a forum for an exchange of experience and ideas among members where knowledge is shared about critical issues regarding crime and criminal and social justice.

On behalf of the City of Philadelphia, I commend the ACJS for organizing this weeklong program of panels, roundtable discussions, exhibits, and presentations to increase awareness and elevate all segments of the criminal justice professions.

I wish you a productive and rewarding Annual Meeting and invite you to return to Philadelphia often and soon.

Sincerely,

Michael A. Nutter
Mayor
Welcome to “the city of brotherly love”, and the 51st annual Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences meeting. This year’s program includes over 370 events and promises to be another professionally rewarding experience.

The theme of the 2014 meeting “Perceptions of Crime and Justice” is reflected in many of this year’s paper presentations and roundtables. There are more than 45 policing panels and roundtables, over 40 criminal justice education sessions, over 35 corrections sessions, and more than 20 courts & sentencing, juvenile justice, and comparative/international criminal justice sessions this year. We have made a concerted effort to schedule these topic area presentations equally across time slots each day from Wednesday through Saturday (Saturday 9:30-12:15), so that no matter what day you arrive, or how long your schedule permits you to attend, we anticipate you will find several events aligned with your research and teaching interests at this conference.

For the most part, the papers and roundtables submitted to each broad topic area have been scheduled in the same proximate meeting rooms every day (e.g. policing presentations will be in rooms: 303, 304, 305; criminal justice education presentations in rooms: 401,402, 403; corrections in rooms 405 & 406 etc.). So if you find yourself without access to a program to search for the next presentation to attend, check the digital displays outside each of the closest meeting rooms for presentations in the same topic area. Featured panels and roundtables are the exception – they are most likely to be in one of the larger “Franklin” rooms on the 4th floor.

The program is enhanced this year with several keynote speakers who will be speaking in Salon H, 5th Fl. on Thursday and Friday. Thursday morning from 9:30-10:45: Ed Rendell, former Governor of Pennsylvania (2003-2011). Thursday afternoon from 3:30-4:45: Charles Ramsey, Police Commissioner of the Philadelphia Police Department. Friday afternoon from 2:00-3:15: Robert Schwartz, co-founder, and Executive Director of the Juvenile Law Center.

On Wednesday and Thursday, there will be a complimentary coffee bar located in the Exhibit Hall (Franklin Hall B, 4th Fl.), from 9:00-10:30 am. The Exhibit Hall will also have a meeting/seating area available for conference participants (9-5 on Wed. & Thurs., 9-2 on Fri.). Please note that there are no presentations scheduled between 12:15-2:00 on Wednesday & Thursday. This dedicated lunch break should make it easier to meet up with busy colleagues, catch up with old friends, and venture out into the city to enjoy lunch and some local attractions. Plan to stop by the President’s Reception which will be held on Wednesday from 6:00-8:00 pm in the beautiful Liberty Ball Room (in the Convention Center).

The Presidential Address and General meeting are open to all attendees on Friday morning from 9:30-10:45 am (Salon H, 5th Fl.), followed by the Research & Pictorial Showcase from 11:00-12:30 (Liberty Ballroom in the Convention Center). This year there are over 100 visual displays of research at this featured event. To ensure that all conference participants can attend these events, there are no other events scheduled between 9:30-12:30 on Friday. All attendees are also encouraged to attend the Awards Ceremony & Reception on Friday night from 6:30-8:30 pm. Recognize and support your colleagues for their contributions to the field!

In addition to compiling a list of local restaurants and attractions to enhance your stay in Philadelphia, the local arrangements committee has planned several special events for conference participants (all require pre-registration). On Wednesday evening, the Inside-Out Prison Exchange Program has offered to conduct a three-hour workshop with a group of men incarcerated at Graterford, one of the largest maximum-security prisons in the country. On Wednesday & Thursday mornings, the committee has also scheduled two guided tours of the historic Eastern State Penitentiary.

As program chairs for the 2014 conference, we sincerely hope you enjoy both the conference and your time in Philadelphia. Thank you to all the members of the program & local arrangements committees who served ACJS this year, and Cathy Barth, ACJS Association Manager, who makes sure that it all comes together in the end -- every year!

Christine Famega & Nicole Leeper Piquero
2014 ACJS Program Chairs
Welcome to the ACJS 2014 Conference in Philadelphia! Philadelphia is the perfect venue for a conference. An excellent, “user friendly” hotel, lots of exciting panels, food and drink nearby, and places to see within walking distance of the hotel.

My Program Co-Chairs, Christine Famesga and Nicole Leeper Piquero, and the members of the Program Committee have put together an outstanding slate of panels, roundtables, and events. The conference theme is “Perceptions of Crime and Justice” and we have a number of panels that highlight this theme.

We have three featured speakers as well. On Thursday morning, NBC commentator Edward Rendell will speak at 9:30 am in Salon H, 5th Floor. Mr. Rendell has a long history of public service in a variety of positions. He has served as District Attorney for Philadelphia, Mayor of Philadelphia and as the Governor of Pennsylvania. Thursday afternoon will feature a presentation by Police Commissioner Charles Ramsey. Commissioner Ramsey served as chief of the Washington, D.C. Metropolitan Police before being named commissioner of the Philadelphia Police Department in 2008 (Thursday 2:00 pm in Salon H, 5th Floor). His department has served as the study site for a number of recent police initiatives included a major study on Intelligent Policing. Finally, Robert Schwartz, who along with colleagues established the Juvenile Law Center in Philadelphia in 1975, will speak on Friday at 2:00 pm in Salon H, 5th Floor. The Juvenile Law Center is the oldest non-profit public interest law firm for children in the United States. The Juvenile Law Center has been involved in most of the landmark cases and important issues that have shaped juvenile justice over the past 30 years. Please make every effort to attend these presentations.

In response to member preferences, the 2014 Annual Meeting features the return of the printed program. Just as last year, the program was also made available on the ACJS website, as one document and as multiple, smaller documents with each day serving as a standalone document. This will allow people the option of electronically accessing the program or using the printed program during the conference.

This year marks the return of the ACJS New Attendee Breakfast which will be held between 7:00 and 8:30am in Franklin 1, 4th Floor on Wednesday morning. This breakfast is for people who have never attended an annual conference, irrespective of whether you have been a member for several years or not. Attendees will have the opportunity to meet with members of the ACJS Executive Board and other conference participants who are attending the conference for the first time.

I hope that you will be able to find some time during the conference to leave the hotel and see Philadelphia. Within walking distance of the hotel are such sites as the Liberty Bell, Constitution Hall, and the United States Mint. There are also a number of art galleries and museums. The Reading Market is just across the street from the conference venue and offers a large number of dinning places with a variety of types of food. Finally, there are a number of restaurants and drinking establishments located in downtown Philadelphia.
I am indebted to my Program Co-Chairs, Nicole Leeper Piquero and Christine Famega, and all the members of the Program Committee, for their extensive and diligent work on the program. I would also like to thank, Mary Stohr, the ACJS Executive Director for her help with the program. A special thank you goes to Cathy Barth, the Association Manager, and her staff for their efforts to ensure that the conference goes smoothly and is successful.

It has truly been my honor and privilege to serve as your President this year. Beginning on this Friday, Brian Payne, Old Dominion University, becomes President. It is comforting to know that someone as capable as Brian will be taking over. Further, working with Brian will be an excellent group of people on the Executive Board who are committed to seeing that the Academy serves its constituents needs and desires and remains a leading professional association in the discipline.

James Frank
President 2013-2014
Dear Annual Meeting Attendees and ACJS Members,

It is a great pleasure to serve as your Executive Director of the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences. If you are new to the Academy then a big hearty welcome to you! If you are a regular attendee of ACJS meetings then welcome to the 51st! The Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences was originally created by a few police scholars interested in creating an open and welcoming environment for both academics and practitioners where fresh ideas and research might be exchanged and applied for the betterment of our communities, practice and scholarship. Since that time the Academy has grown to over 2,700 academic/practitioner and student members from all regions of the country and includes many international members.

It is with that background in mind that ACJS President Jim Frank, his Program Chairs (Nicole Piquero and Christine Famega), the 2014 Program Committee, the ACJS Executive Board, countless other volunteers who chair panels and run committees, sections and organize events at the meeting, along with Association Manager Cathy Barth and myself, have created an event with you, the attendee, in mind. We hope that you will enjoy what is available and feel free to give us feedback on what you experience either directly or in the survey you will have the opportunity to complete after the conference is complete.

Besides the “work” of the conference – the panels, presentations, workshops, and roundtables – please also be sure to stop in at the section and regional meetings and their respective events. Also, check out the book vendors and the numerous receptions sponsored by ACJS and those sponsored by various schools. If you are new to ACJS, the very best way to meet and get to know people is to participate in sections with others who have similar research and pedagogical interests, or practitioner experience, as you! Working for the regional organizations will also lead to friendships which can be renewed not just at ACJS, but at a regional meeting. Students should not hesitate to join the sections and regions, as well, as these connections are vital to your growth in our profession.

We have some special treats planned for you at this conference: the New Attendee Breakfast which is free for new ACJS members (“new” within the last two years) is scheduled for Wednesday, February 19th at 7:30 a.m. in Franklin 1 on the 4th Floor (new faculty, new graduate students and new practitioner members are particularly welcome at this event which will be attended by the ACJS President and members of the Executive Board); the President Reception, scheduled for Wednesday, February 19th from 6:00 p.m.-8:00 p.m. in the Liberty Ballroom, Convention Center on the 3rd Floor, is free and open to all (come meet Presidents from years past roaming the reception hall); and speakers who will address the theme of “Perceptions of Crime and Justice.” Of course, this year our meeting in Philadelphia is situated near a number of historic sites, including: the Eastern State Penitentiary, Independence Hall, and the Liberty Bell, to name just a few which are nearby.

Finally, managing the Academy is a team effort, one done mostly by volunteers who essentially “own” the Academy and decide its future. If you have not done so already please feel free to become one of those volunteers who will help us achieve the original mission envisioned by those first police scholars, who had been practitioners, and who were interested in the betterment of, and ultimately more just, communities.

ACJS, let me close by welcoming you to the 51st Annual Meeting of ACJS! If I can be of assistance to you in any way regarding the conference or ACJS, please do not hesitate to contact me at mary.stohr@wsu.edu or just stop me in the hallway!

Best to all,

Mary

The Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences Certification Standards for Academic Programs were approved May 2, 2005 and amended October 28, 2005 by the ACJS Executive Board. The goal of ACJS in adopting these Standards and implementing a Certification Review process is to measurably improve the quality of criminal justice education. For several years, ACJS had Minimum Standards for Criminal Justice Education and these standards were used in a peer review process through ACJS Academic Review. The new standards and process represent an evolution from “peer review” to “certification”. The ACJS Certification is designed to evaluate evidence-based compliance with the Certification Standards.

What do we mean by compliance with standards? The ACJS Executive Board will Certify those programs that undergo ACJS Certification Review and that have demonstrated, through substantive, credible evidence, the program meets or exceeds all parts of every standard. The emphasis is on evidence, not intention. Programs are required to provide evidence of program quality & effectiveness based on program outcome assessment.

The Certification Standards are broken into nine sections, each of which has specific Standards and Recommended Indicators. The sections are:

- A: Program Mission & History
- B: Program Structure & Curriculum
- C: Faculty
- D: Admission & Articulation
- E: Resources
- F: Student Services
- G: Integrity
- H: Program Quality & Effectiveness
- I: Branch Campuses, Additional Locations, and Other Instructional Sites

The Certification Standards for Academic Programs and Process for Undergoing Review are available for Associate, Baccalaureate, and Master’s degree programs. You can access these Standards at the following web addresses:

- Associate Degree Process and Standards - http://www.acjs.org/pubs/167_667_12020.cfm

The Application for Program Certification and other documents can also be downloaded from the Certification page on the ACJS website: http://www.acjs.org/pubs/167_667_3517.cfm

NOTE: All papers presented at the 2015 ACJS Annual Meeting are to be original works never before published, printed, or accepted for presentation elsewhere.

All attendees at the ACJS Annual Meeting shall abide by the ACJS Code of Ethics. A copy of the Code of Ethics can be found on the ACJS website, www.acjs.org.

Program Guidelines

All program participants are required to pre-register for the conference and to provide their own transportation and meeting expenses. The form for downloading and submitting pre-registration is available at www.acjs.org on the Annual Meeting page of the website.

Abstracts should be submitted only once via the ACJS website. DO NOT SEND ABSTRACTS DIRECTLY TO THE TOPIC AREA CHAIRS. If you have questions about your submission, please send them to the Program Chair David May at ACJS2015@gmail.com

LCD projectors will be available in the meeting rooms. No laptops/computers or overhead projectors will be provided. Additional audio/video equipment is the responsibility of the presenter. Individuals wanting additional equipment must either bring their own equipment to the conference or make arrangements through the hotel for equipment rental.

ACJS Program Participation Options

Research Showcase
The Research Showcase is a collection of visual displays of research that encourages informal interaction between authors and audience. The primary author of a Research Showcase presentation must be in attendance and committed to standing near his or her presentation throughout the allotted Friday 11:00 a.m. – 12:30 p.m. session.

Paper Presentations
Panels consist of four or five presenters of written papers and a panel chair. Presenters make formal presentations of completed works. The panel chair opens and closes the session and coordinates questions and comments from the audience. Participants who select this option are expected to send their finished papers to the Panel Chair two weeks prior to the conference.

Roundtables
Roundtables are open discussions of a topic, organized by a moderator and involving no more than four individual discussants with special knowledge or expertise in the topic area. No formal papers are presented. Often the discussion concerns diverse viewpoints or findings in a topic area.

Feature Panels
Each topic area has co-chairs. One of the co-chairs is responsible for soliciting papers for a complete panel and discussants for a roundtable presentation. These complete panels and roundtables will be featured in the conference program.

Complete Panels
A complete panel consists of coordinating the arrangement of four papers related to a common theme. The person facilitating the complete panel must include a panel chair, panel title, and four papers with all supporting information for the papers at the time of submission to the website. Participants involved in this option are expected to send their finished papers to the Panel Chair two weeks prior to the conference.

Student Authored Paper Panels
Undergraduate and graduate student authors may submit their papers to a regular topical area of their choice where they will present with other faculty and practitioners. However, students have the option to submit their papers for presentation on an all-student panel. These panels are on a variety of topical areas, and are designed to facilitate initial presentations in a supportive and welcoming environment. Participants who select this option are expected to send their finished papers to the Panel Chair two weeks prior to the conference. Students who select this option should send to a “student panel” and NOT to a topical area.

Kelly Cheeseman was our dear colleague and friend and someone we both knew collectively for thirty years. We first met Kelly when she came to Sam Houston State University to begin her graduate studies in Criminal Justice. During this time, Kelly worked hard during the day pursuing her education; but at night, she was employed full-time as a correctional officer within the Texas Department of Criminal Justice. Kelly worked at the Huntsville Unit, also known as the “Walls Unit,” because of the red brick walls which surround the facility. Though Kelly grew up in Vestal, New York and had a heavy Northern accent, she quickly won the respect of her fellow officers. In fact, some of her supervisors referred to Kelly as the “Yankee,” though this was a sign of both affection and respect. It was not long before Kelly began to be given major areas of responsibility within the prison organization. Typically, a newly hired officer would be required to work cell blocks for several years. However, Kelly’s supervisors quickly recognized that she had an exceptionally strong work ethic, and perhaps more importantly, an uncanny ability to communicate with both inmates as well as guards. She had a knack for defusing irate inmates and deflating tense situations. It wasn’t long before Kelly was assigned to work the searcher’s desk, a position reserved for veteran officers who often come from a long family lineage of prison guards. During her tenure as a correctional officer, Kelly was even asked by the unit warden to work the execution detail, a task that is regarded by other prison employees as one of the most coveted and elite duties to be bestowed upon a correctional officer. Only the best of the best prison employees are permitted to work in this capacity. And, while many officers would have gladly accepted this very important responsibility, Kelly graciously turned this opportunity down. She did not believe in the death penalty, and her strong Christian beliefs and moral convictions would not allow her to do anything which could be construed as facilitating an execution. She explained this to her supervisors and once again earned their respect.

As a graduate student, it quickly became evident to Kelly’s professors that she had a research agenda which was significantly different from most of the other burgeoning young scholars they taught at Sam Houston State University. Unlike their other students, Kelly’s research agenda was infused with the practitioner perspective, thus, lending it a unique credibility. She designed research hypotheses which were based upon real life experience. For example, one of the first articles Kelly published as a graduate student examined inmate perceptions of female and male correctional officers. She knew firsthand what it meant to work in a male-dominated prison environment and used this experience as a tool to guide the interpretation of her research findings. And, from the very beginning, Kelly’s research was unique in that she almost always collected her own data. She had a special knack for getting both inmate and correctional officer respondents to fill out the long surveys which she designed.

Besides being an exceptional researcher, it quickly became evident to everyone early on that Kelly was also an extraordinary teacher. When she began instructing classes as a Doctoral Teaching Fellow at Sam Houston State University, Kelly was well known for taking a strong interest in her students’ education and future career goals. She also made it a point to relate class material to the outside, real world. Often, Kelly would take her students on prison tours at the Walls Unit. These tours were fun-filled and thoroughly enjoyed by her students as well as fellow graduate students who she often invited. The prison tours were typically conducted at night, and occasionally, a few of Kelly’s correctional officer coworkers would rattle trashcan lids or make scary noises to give students the illusion that they were touring a haunted cellblock! Kelly truly had a remarkable sense of humor and wasn’t afraid to let students see this side of her.

Two years prior to graduating with her Ph.D. from Sam Houston State University, Kelly was promoted to the position of Unit Profile Coordinator within the Texas Department of Criminal Justice. This was a newly created position as part of the state’s proactive effort to comply with the Prison Rape Elimination Act. One of Kelly’s major responsibilities in this new role required her to travel all throughout Texas to assess the institutional climate of various prison facilities. In this role she quickly became acquainted with some of the major players within the Texas Prison System, and it was evident that Kelly was being groomed for a high-level, executive position within the agency. However, upon graduating from Sam Houston State University in 2006, Kelly said farewell to the Texas Department of Criminal Justice and followed her true passion of teaching and research when she accepted her first academic position as an Assistant Professor at Old Dominion University. Later, Kelly would be lured back to the South when she took a job offer to work at the University of Southern Mississippi. During her time there, she mentored countless undergraduate and graduate students and was often referred to affectionately as “Dr. Cheese.” Being an adventurous person, she would next accept a position as an Associate Professor at Messiah College, a private liberal arts Christian institution with a reputation for being one of the best regional universities in the North. Kelly would quickly become the Coordinator of the Criminal Justice Program and was soon promoted to the position of Department Chairperson overseeing the disciplines of Sociology, Social Work, and Criminal Justice.

During her academic career, Kelly delved into countless areas in criminal justice through the course of her research. She built a solid national reputation for publishing numerous peer-reviewed articles, as well as a scholarly book, on correctional officer stress. She was, without question, one of the foremost experts on this subject, and her important work will continue to be cited by prison researchers for many, many years to come. And, while her academic and professional achievements are impressive by any standard, above everything else, Kelly was a genuinely thoughtful and caring person. She always made time for others, had an infectious laugh, as well as an amazing ability to empathize with those who were less fortunate. Perhaps, this is why she was able to flourish as both an officer and later, as an administrator, within the Texas Department of Criminal Justice. Kelly also worked as correctional officer for the Federal Bureau of Prisons at the Federal Correctional Complex in Allenwood, Pennsylvania. Kelly had a very strong moral compass which was guided by her Christian faith. She was not afraid to express to her religious convictions to others. Kelly always lived by her principles and never compromised even in situations when others might have been tempted to do so. It is fitting that she recently published an ethics textbook specifically geared toward the everyday criminal justice professional. There is no doubt that Kelly Cheeseman was an authority on this topic; she lived her life with passion and honor. Those of us who knew Kelly well are better persons for having met her.

On Sunday, October 20, 2013, Dr. L. Edward Wells passed away following unsuccessful efforts to treat leukemia. Dr. Wells received his PhD in Sociology from the University of Wisconsin in 1976, after which he was a Postdoctoral Fellow at Stanford and then at Indiana University. He taught at Purdue University for seven years and in 1986 was hired at Illinois State University where he taught and conducted research until his passing. Although he retired in 2012 he continued to mentor students and conduct research.

Dr. Wells was known for his keen intellect, his compassion, and his dry sense of humor. His knowledge was wide-ranging. His research interests were broad and his personal interests even broader. There were few subjects about which he didn’t have some knowledge. His published research included self-concept, broken homes and delinquency, criminological theory, delinquency, gangs, homicide, police vehicle pursuits, community policing, rural crime, suburban policing, rural policing, crime and policing in American Indian communities, and methamphetamine production. Much of his work was empirical, including his publications on meta-analysis.

Ed was known for his kindness and his genuine humility. He had a love of numbers and of finding patterns, both of which served him well in his work involving both quantitative research and theory. He was always there to help students and other faculty. Ed was often the smartest person in the room but would never have accepted that description. His colleagues at ISU repeatedly pushed to have him recognized for his scholarly accomplishments, but he steadfastly refused to even have his materials submitted.

Dr. Wells was often described as the soul of the Department of Criminal Justice Sciences. His wisdom, fairness and kindness always steered the department to move in the right direction, to strive for excellence and to do right by each other and our students. His presence on the 4th floor of Schroeder Hall will be missed in ways words cannot describe.

Dr. Wells' memorial service was held at Unitarian Universalist Church on Saturday November 9 at 2p. In lieu of cards or flowers, the Wells' family would appreciate contributions to the Department of Criminal Justice Sciences' Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. Scholarship fund. This award is made to a junior or above who is an underrepresented group. The recipient must demonstrate outstanding academic achievement and embodies the teaching and spirit of Rev. King. One award per year is given. Please make checks out to the ISU Foundation and on the memo line write CJS MLK Scholarship in memory of Dr. Ed Wells. Mail to: ISU Foundation, Campus Box 8000, Normal, IL 61790-8000.
In Memoriam
Rita Simon

AMERICAN UNIVERSITY REMEMBERS our friend and beloved colleague Professor Emerita Rita Simon. Rita was one of our most gifted scholars, as a professor in both the School of Public Affairs (SPA)—where she was also a former dean—and Washington College of Law.

Rita had a long and storied academic career lasting more than 55 years, including time as director of the law and society program at the University of Illinois and as research associate at Columbia University and the University of Chicago Law School. She came to AU in 1983 and served as university professor from 1989 until 2012, a title awarded only to full professors whose work integrates and redefines thought across academic boundaries. Her pioneering work with ACJS brought success to Justice Quarterly, of which she was first editor, and American Sociology Review, where she also served as editor.

She also served the wider community in multiple ways. In 2002, Rita was appointed by the U.S. Secretary of Education to the Commission on Opportunity in Athletics to study the effects of Title IX. She devotedly served the campus Hillel Foundation, and she wrote about her research for more popular, non-scholarly publications, including the Los Angeles Times, Newsday, The Christian Science Monitor, Paradigm, and The Washington Times.

She educated and mentored generations of students who are now contributing greatly to many fields of scholarship and public service to which she first introduced them. And, as recently as this past year, applicants for our Master’s and Doctoral programs were seeking to come to SPA to study under Rita. We are proud of her dedication to the AU community and we honor her life and legacy.

The ACJS Employment Exchange (EE), located in Franklin Hall 5, 4th floor of the hotel, will open on Wednesday, February 19, at 12:00 pm and close at 5:00 pm. On Thursday, February 20, and Friday, February 21, the EE will open from 9:00 am to 5:00 pm. The EE will not be open on Saturday.

THE ACJS EE HAS GONE GREEN! No longer is it necessary to send hard copies of position announcements or candidate listings. The ACJS Executive Board has approved the installation of computers to accommodate the EE attendees. Hiring institutions need to send their 1) full announcement and 2) “position-at-a-glance” (see below for details) in separate documents, and job candidates need to send their vitae to our email address, JZL161@psu.edu.

For easy indexing in our email system, hiring institutions should use “ACJSJOBOPENINGS” as their email title, and job candidates should use “ACJSJOBCANDIDATES” as their email title. Job candidates are also advised to note their specialty areas in the email submission.

There is no cutoff date; the EE will maintain a rolling enrollment. For best results, institutions or persons wishing to post to the EE are advised to email the announcement or listing a week before the Annual Meeting. Submissions will continue to be accepted by email or they can be brought to the EE on a flash drive. Attendees will be able to copy announcements and candidate listings to their respective flash drives.

The EE will operate three computers for position searches. There will be a folder on the main screen, and the list of institutions will be in a document file format. Job candidates can open the files to confirm the position announcements. Internet access or printer will NOT be available on these laptops. Job candidates may browse the announcements and save files to their own flash memory.

The EE will operate two computers for candidate searches. There will be a folder on the main screen containing individual candidate profiles (e.g., vita). The files will be indexed by name and specialties listed by the candidate(s). Hiring institution representatives can browse the profiles and save the files in their own flash memory. The Internet access or printer will NOT be available on these laptops.

At any given time during the EE program, at least two EE representatives will be on-site. The EE representatives will be graduate students from across the country that have volunteered their service to ACJS. The EMPLOYMENT EXCHANGE ribbons below their nametags will easily identify them.
Along with the position announcements, hiring institutions are advised to submit brief summary memo, called "position-at-a-glance," containing 1) school name 2) # of positions, 3) position titles (e.g., policing, theory, corrections, generalist), 4) eligibility (e.g., immigration status, minimum academic degree), and 5) contact information of the institution representative during the ACJS Annual Meeting. The EE will organize the memos and beam them on a wall screen using a projector. Please make the position-at-a-glance as concise as possible. Job candidates will be encouraged to glance at it for quick reference, then go to the position announcement, and see if they would like to contact the representative(s) attending conference.

Hiring institution representatives should bring their own table banner. The banners should be in an acceptable fashion. We have noted in the previous EE programs that some schools have deteriorating table banners with 1) poor graphic design, 2) overwhelming colors with unidentifiable school names, or 3) nothing but acronyms of the institution. Please be conscientious and check with other faculty members before bringing it to the ACJS EE.

Tables and chairs that institutions and candidates can use for employment-related discussions will be available on a first-come, first-served basis. Institutions also are advised to determine in advance their interview/discussion schedule (i.e., who will be available on what days at what times).  Interview/discussion sign-up sheets will be made available for posting, and this operation works on a self-service basis. To facilitate communication between prospective employers and job candidates, materials for self-service messages are made available. Candidates and institutions should check the board regularly. Also, since there is no way to insure that messages will be received or delivered, institutions should consider providing representative’s contact information (e.g., name and hotel) to EE staff.

On Thursday, February 20, 9:30 am, Jim Ruiz, Associate Professor of Criminal Justice-Penn State Harrisburg, will make a presentation entitled “Tips for a Successful Job Interview.” This presentation contains valuable information for all those who are or will be soon entering the job market.

After 34 years of public service, including 24 years as an elected official, Governor Rendell continues to pursue many of the same issues he was passionate about while serving. His commitment to making America a cleaner, more efficient place and to fostering investment in our nation's crumbling infrastructure is as strong as it ever was. Rendell has remained heavily involved in the campaign for government efficiency and strategic cost cutting through his work with entities such as Government Sourcing Solutions and Public Financial Management.

Perhaps no other issue has been and continues to be as important to Governor Rendell as America's dire need to rebuild and reinvest in its infrastructure. As Governor, Rendell worked with Mayor Michael Bloomberg and Governor Arnold Schwarzenegger to create an organization called "Building America's Future." The organization focuses on the need for a more significant investment in American infrastructure projects to ensure that America maintains its place as a global economic power. Governor Rendell currently serves as Co-Chair of the organization and travels throughout the country speaking about this issue.

Rendell served two terms as Governor of Pennsylvania (2003-2011) and oversaw a budget of $28.3 billion as the chief executive of the nation's 6th-most-populous state. As Governor, Rendell was committed to making government more responsible and responsive to the public's needs, and he successfully cut wasteful spending and improved efficiency leading to savings of over $1 billion. His legislative agenda focused on commonsense political reform and putting progress ahead of partisanship. Through his unprecedented strategic investments, he energized Pennsylvania's economy, revitalized communities, improved education, protected the environment, expanded access to health care to all children, and made affordable prescription drugs available to older Pennsylvanians.

During his two terms as Mayor of Philadelphia (1992-2000), Rendell eliminated a crippling deficit, balanced the City's budget, and generated five consecutive budget surpluses. Philadelphia's renaissance, which The New York Times called "the most stunning turnaround in recent urban history," is largely attributed to his determination, inspiration, and energy.
Before serving as Mayor, Rendell was elected District Attorney of Philadelphia for two terms from 1978 through 1985. Rendell also served as Chairman of the Democratic National Committee during the 2000 Presidential election. He currently sits on several boards, is a Brookings Fellow and teaches government and politics courses at the University of Pennsylvania. Rendell finished his autobiography, A Nation of Wusses, which was released in June 2012.
Charles H. Ramsey
Police Commissioner of the Philadelphia Police Department

Thursday, February 20, 2014, Salon H, 5th Floor, 3:30 PM

On January 7, 2008, Charles H. Ramsey was appointed Commissioner of the Philadelphia Police Department, the fourth largest in the United States with over 6,500 sworn officers and 830 civilian members. Commissioner Ramsey has over 40 years of law enforcement experience with three different major departments beginning with Chicago, then Washington, D.C. and Philadelphia. Presently, he also serves as President of both the Police Executive Research Forum and the Major Cities Chiefs Association, the only law enforcement person to hold both positions at the same time.

More specifically, Commissioner Ramsey began his career as a police officer in 1971 with the Chicago Police Department. While with the department he served as commander of patrol, detective and narcotics units and as Deputy Superintendent of the Bureau of Staff Services. Finally, he was instrumental in helping to design and implement the Chicago Alternative Policing Strategy (CAPS). From 1998-2006 Commissioner Ramsey served as the head of the Washington, D.C. Metropolitan Police Department. He was the longest-serving chief of the MPDC since DC Home Rule and the second longest-serving in Department history. Crime rates declined by approximately 40 percent during his tenure and the Department regained its reputation as a leader in urban policing. Since his arrival in Philadelphia, the Philadelphia Police Department has made significant strides in reducing crime and improving the quality of police services. With a renewed focus on visible uniform patrol, organizational accountability, investigative and forensic technology upgrades, and intelligence-led policing, Philadelphia has seen a reduction in violent crime and a nearly 17% reduction in homicides. dropped 15% in 2008, shooting victims decreased by 10%, and the homicide clearance rate was the highest in over a decade at 75%.

Commissioner Ramsey has lectured nationally on community policing and homeland security. He has received numerous awards, including the John M. Penrith Leadership Award from the FBI and Major Cities Chiefs National Executive Institute, the Leadership in Policing Award from the Police Executive Research Forum, and the Innovations in American Government Award from Harvard University’s John F. Kennedy School of Government.
Robert Schwartz, Esq.
Juvenile Law Center

Salon H, 5th Floor, 2:00 PM
“Perceptions of Juvenile Justice:
In re Gault to “Kids for Cash”
Introduced by Alex Piquero, University of Texas,
Dallas

Robert Schwartz co-founded the Juvenile Law Center in 1975 with three fellow graduates of Temple Law School. Since 1982 he has served as its Executive Director. The Juvenile Law Center is the nation’s oldest non-profit, public interest law firm for children in the United States and is a national advocate for children’s rights.

During his career, Mr. Schwartz has represented dependent and delinquent children in Pennsylvania, has been involved in class-action litigation over institutional conditions, and testified before both houses of Congress. He has been the Chair of the American Bar Association’s Commission on Youth at Risk, was Chair of the Juvenile Justice Committee of the American Bar Association’s Criminal Justice Section, was Chair of the Children’s Advisory Committee to the Children’s Rights Division of Human Rights Watch, visited South Africa to help develop a legal system for children and spoke in China about sentencing of youth. From 1996-2006, Robert Schwartz also served on the MacArthur Foundation Research Network on Adolescent Development and Juvenile Justice.

The Juvenile Law Center has been involved in a wide range of efforts involving the provision of constitutional rights to juveniles and ensuring that best-practices are implemented in the care and welfare of juveniles. For example, the Center in the last several years filed amicus briefs in the Miller v. Alabama and Graham v. Florida cases involving life without parole for those under 18 when the crime was committed, been involved in litigation and research on juvenile sex offender registration, engaged in efforts to reduce the number of youth tried in adult courts and highlighted problems with the juvenile transfer process. In recent years they have also worked on issues involving juvenile re-entry and the collateral consequences of delinquency.
ANNUAL MEETING PRESENTATION CATEGORIES

Panels
A Panel consists of four or five presenters of written papers and a panel chair. Presenters make formal presentations of completed works. The Panel chair opens and closes the session and coordinates questions and comments from the audience.

Feature Panels are panels that are likely to be of special interest to a wide audience or may feature one or more special guests.

Author Meets Critics
Author Meets Critics is a moderated discussion between the author(s) of a recent scholarly published work and three or four critics of the work’s methodology and findings.

Roundtables
A Roundtable is an open discussion of a topic, organized by a moderator and involving several individual discussants with special knowledge or expertise in the topic area. Discussants can be academics, practitioners, or students. No formal papers are presented. Often the discussion concerns diverse viewpoints or findings in a topic area.

Feature Roundtables are roundtables of special interest to a wide audience or may feature one or more special guests.

Open Seminar
An Open Seminar involves one or more presenters on more practical educational opportunities on such topics as looking for funding, grant writing, finding a job, developing course syllabi, or becoming a new department chair. Open seminars can also be hands-on experiences that involve the audience as participants, such as mock job interviews or victim offender mediations. An Open Seminar is in a different format than a roundtable or panel, because there are no discussants and no scholarly papers presented. All Open Seminars are open to all conference participants with no advance registration required.

Research and Pictorial Showcase
The Research and Pictorial Showcase is a collection of visual displays of research that encourages informal interaction between authors and audience. This event occurs Friday, 11:00 a.m.-12:30 p.m.

John W. Eddings grew up in Columbus, GA. After his family moved to Central Florida, John found himself trying to fit in with the “in crowd” which led to numerous incarcerations in juvenile homes, reform schools, and jails. He became addicted to drugs, and shortly after his 19th birthday he was sent to prison for robbery. His original 15-year sentence grew to a convoluted mixture of concurrent and consecutive sentences totaling 904 years plus three life sentences for multiple counts of robbery, kidnapping, and escape. Although his rehabilitation commenced in 1998, it wasn’t until 2005 that John was placed in the Corrections Transition Program by the Florida Parole Commission. Under the tutelage of Dr. Regina B. Shearn, John became an asset to the program. He is recognized by Toastmasters International as an Advanced Communicator Bronze public speaker. John has edited two books for publication and has written several book manuscripts of his own, the first of which is due to be published soon. Today he enjoys and is taking full advantage of his first year of freedom.

We at NEACJS are dedicated to the advancement of Criminal Justice as a science, a profession and as an international discipline. We believe that we have a responsibility and a voice in establishing and executing the policies associated with our discipline. Criminal justice is dynamic and requires involvement by those of us who hold positions within our respective organizations that allow us to drive policy decisions in a positive direction. NEACJS is fortunate to have many dedicated and hard-working members who are in large part responsible for many of the advances that have taken place and will continue to take place in the world of criminal justice.

If you are not a member of this vibrant organization and you are from our area, please consider joining NEACJS. Please visit us at the NEACJS Table located in the vendor’s exhibition space during this conference. We will also be running our annual undergraduate and graduate student competition.

BEST PAPER AWARD

The editorial board of the journal Police Practice & Research is delighted to announce an award for the best paper published in Volume 14, 2013. The author/s of the winning paper will receive a first prize of US$500, with second place receiving an honorable mention and US$300. The winner will be announced in Philadelphia, PA (ACJS, February 18-22, 2014).

ADVANCES IN POLICE THEORY AND PRACTICE

Presenting volumes that focus on the nexus between research and practice, this series is geared toward those practitioners and academics seeking to implement the latest innovations in policing from across the world.

This series draws from an international community of experts who examine who the police are, what they do, and how they maintain order, administer laws, and serve their communities.

INTERVIEWS WITH GLOBAL LEADERS IN POLICING, COURTS, AND PRISONS

The focus of this series is to obtain a better understanding of the global challenges that criminal justice leaders face and of the successes they achieve while functioning in an increasingly interconnected and democratized world. It provides a thorough and in-depth analysis — from an insider’s perspective — of how key police, corrections, and court leaders and administrators view their roles and the difficulties associated with the changing nature of their work. It aims to record the criminal justice system through interviews with global leaders who speak about the organizational structure, leadership, functions, public projects, training, culture and societal context of their organizations in different countries. The ultimate goal is to discover if external observers’ perspectives match what practitioners perceive about their work.

POLICE PRACTICE AND RESEARCH (PPR)

Is affiliated with the International Police Executive Symposium (IPES) www.ipes.info. PPR is a peer-reviewed, international journal that presents current and innovative academic police research as well as operational and administrative police practices from around the world. Manuscripts are sought from practitioners, researchers and others interested in developments in policing, analysis of public order, and the state of safety as it affects the quality of life everywhere. Attention will also be focused on specific organizational information about the police in different countries and regions of the universe.

SUBMISSION OF MANUSCRIPTS

Manuscripts should be submitted online to the Taylor and Francis website at http://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/gppr. For assistance, please contact Danika McLeod at pprassociateditors@gmail.com. Manuscripts should normally be no more than 25 typed pages (Word, Times New Roman, 12 Font, DoubleSpaced) in English. Manuscripts should be accompanied by an abstract of no more than 100 words, up to six key words, and a brief biographical Sketch.
