The beautiful Monterey Peninsula in April! Cutting edge CE presentations! Nationally and internationally known Master Lecturers and Plenary Speakers! CPA has put together an incredible Convention for 2012, and we look forward to seeing you in Monterey.

The theme for the 2012 CPA Convention is “Enhancing Today – Preparing for Tomorrow.” In coming to this theme we wanted to highlight the best of psychological practice today while also addressing the innovative and emerging issues for psychologists on the horizon. As you can see from a review of the conference presentations, we were successful in bringing together a diverse collection of CE offerings that seek to raise the bar on contemporary psychological practice and to prepare psychologists for new opportunities in the psychological workplaces of tomorrow.

We have assembled a diverse and impressive panel of experts to present our Master Lectures and Plenary Presentations. Hear Dr. Lonnie Barbach, author, practitioner, and nationally-recognized personality on couples and relationships analyze partner communications as they relate to intimacy in the context of couples relationships. Join prolific researcher Dr. Gail Goodman as she discusses research and best practices to enhance the quality of children’s eyewitness testimony when they are forced to go into court. Dr. Philip Erdberg, a noted expert in personality assessment, will guide us through the proposed changes to personality disorder diagnosis in the DSM-V, and will describe the contributions of neuroscience to psychological assessment. Expand your horizons with forensic psychologist Dr. Alan Goldstein, as he leads us into the misunderstood world of criminal confessions and illustrates how to evaluate a defendant’s capacity to waive the Constitutional right to remain silent under Miranda. Hold on while Drs. Camala Boyce, Walter Greenleaf, Ron Rembisz, and Ivana Steigman catapult us into the future with cutting-edge applications of virtual reality for current and future clinical and organizational practice. Finally, accompany one of the foremost minds in the field of trauma psychology, Dr. John Briere, as he escorts us through new developments in the assessment and treatment of complex psychological trauma.

CPA’s 2012 Convention in Monterey is the foremost opportunity of the year for all California psychologists to come together to learn, network, and grow in a dynamic educational environment. Join us and experience an unforgettable conference.

See you in April!

Hotel Information & Reservations

John Steinbeck’s novels made Monterey and its fishing and cannery industry famous. Those days are long gone and now beautiful Monterey is known as one of California’s most popular vacation destinations.

Monterey was selected as the location of the CPA 2012 Convention so that attendees could enjoy this historic and vibrant area of California. The Monterey Marriott is centrally located and has easy access to Fisherman’s Wharf, restaurants, and the popular walking trail. This easy walk follows the coast to Cannery Row, the Monterey Aquarium, art galleries and many restaurants.

The special CPA room rate of $149 plus tax is a great rate for Monterey in the Spring!

Make reservations by calling 1-800-266-9432 and requesting the California Psychological Association Convention rate, or reserve your room online at https://resweb.passkey.com/go/2012cpa. The rate is valid three days before and after the convention.

Parking is available at nearby city-owned lots ($7 per 24 hours without in/out) or with valet at the hotel for $20.
Friday Opening Plenary Session

From Conversation to Connection: The Language of Intimacy
8:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. — 1 CE Credit

In this keynote, Dr. Barbach will explore dialogue as it pertains to creating intimacy. She will share her current thinking about couple’s therapy since writing Going The Distance with her co-author and life partner, David Geisinger, PhD. Her presentation will analyze the language used by partners as a key to understanding the dynamics of the relationship and how deliberate linguistic changes can transform that relationship by deepening emotional bonds and creating healthy intimacy.

Lonnie Barbach, PhD, formerly on the clinical faculty of the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco, is now a clinical-social psychologist in private practice and an author of a dozen books with over 4 million copies sold in the U.S. She has appeared on Good Morning America, The Today Show, CBS Morning News, and Charlie Rose and has written articles for many national magazines.

Sunday Closing Plenary Session

Complex Psychological Trauma: New Directions in Assessment and Treatment
9:00 a.m. to Noon — 3 CE Credits

When trauma exposure involves early, repetitive maltreatment, followed by later adverse experience, the outcome may involve not only classic posttraumatic stress, but also dysfunctional attachment styles, altered relational schema, affect dysregulation, and overdeveloped avoidance responses. This presentation will be divided into two sections: (1) a description of recent assessment approaches that are able to quantify such outcomes, including the new Trauma Symptom Inventory - 2 (Briere, 2011, published by Psychological Assessment Resources), and (2) an overview of empirically-informed treatment interventions that specifically address complex posttraumatic symptomatology.

John Briere, PhD, is Associate Professor of Psychiatry and Psychology at the Keck School of Medicine, University of Southern California, and Director of the Psychological Trauma Program at LAC-USC Medical Center. He is also past president of the International Society for Traumatic Stress Studies (ISTSS).

HEALTH PSYCHOLOGY — 4 CE Credits

Psychological Consultation in Behavioral Medicine/Integrated Care Settings

Emerging awareness of potential roles for psychologists in healthcare has engendered a belief that traditional clinical psychology practice skills are sufficient in clinical health psychology practice. Although clinical psychology core competencies are important in clinical health psychology, they represent a small portion of the overall skill set needed to address demands seen in a clinical health psychology or primary/integrated care setting. These skills may include judgments concerning the need for brief versus extended evaluations/interventions, undertaking brief evaluations, interactions with non-mental health interdisciplinary treatment teams, and agency-level consultation. This Institute will focus on the varying types of patient and provider interactions a psychologist might have in a healthcare setting, documentation of patient contact, and on systems interventions psychologists may be called on to make in the practice of clinical health psychology.

David J. Martin, PhD, is the Chief Psychologist and Director of Training, and the Director of the HIV Mental Health Program at Harbor-UCLA Medical Center, and a Professor in the Geffen School of Medicine at UCLA.

Astrid M. Reina-Patton, PhD, is the Director of Women’s Health and Co-Director of the HIV Mental Health Program at Harbor-UCLA Medical Center, and an Assistant Professor in the Geffen School of Medicine at UCLA.

Melinda Ginne, PhD, is a Behavioral Medicine Specialist at Kaiser Permanente Medical Center in Oakland, CA, and a member of the UC Berkeley Extension Faculty.

Michael Ritz, PhD, retired from Kaiser Permanente Medical Center in Irvine, CA, and is currently Chair-Elect of CPA’s Division of Clinical and Professional Practice (Div I) and Chair of the Division’s Section on Health Psychology.

ETHICS — 4 CE Credits

A Day in the Life of the CPA Ethics Committee

The CPA Ethics Committee responds to over 300 calls each year from CPA members requesting consultation on ethics-related questions ranging from the most common to the very complex. In this interactive Institute, members of the Ethics Committee will demonstrate their process for assessing the issue, applying the APA Ethics Code to the particular situation, and assisting callers in thinking about and applying sound ethical decision-making to arrive at a decision about the actions to take. We will then break out into small groups led by Committee members and participants will go through the process of providing an ethics consultation. Take advantage of this opportunity to practice your own ethical decision-making with the cases they will discuss. In addition, the presenters will provide an update on ethics and relevant California law.

Bram Fridhandler, PhD, practices in San Francisco, providing psychoanalytically oriented psychotherapy to adults and forensic services related to family law, including child custody evaluations, coparent counseling, and Special Master. He is the 2012 Chair of the CPA Ethics Committee, is an Expert Reviewer for the California Board of Psychology, and has presented widely on ethical and legal issues for mental health professionals.

Michael Donner, PhD, is the 2011 Chair of the CPA Ethics Committee and Chair of the Ethics and Professional Affairs Committee of the Alameda County Psychological Association. He is the Co-Chair of the Faculty and member of the Ethics and Impairment Committee of the San Francisco Center for Psychoanalysis.

Terence Patterson, EdD, ABPP, is Professor and former Director of the doctoral program in counseling psychology at the University of San Francisco. He is board certified in Family Psychology with the American Board of Professional Psychology, and a Fellow of the American Psychological Association.

Robert A. Simon, PhD, is a forensic psychologist in Del Mar, CA. He serves as a child custody evaluator, expert reviewer of custody evaluations and family law litigation and strategic trial consultant.
Afternoon Institutes — 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.

SUPERVISION — 4 CE Credits

Clinical Supervision: Advanced Supervision Practice

This advanced workshop will be interactive, vignette driven, and will engage each participant in problem-solving and identification of strategies to address difficult supervision situations including vicarious traumatization, with consideration of risk management. Both theory and empirical research will be used to demonstrate how to infuse diversity and supervisor self-assessment into all aspects of supervision practice, with an emphasis on how to conduct effective two-way feedback, use feedback tools, and appraise the supervision process.

(This institute combined with the Thursday night 2-hour supervision session will satisfy the 6-hour supervision requirement)

Carol Falender, PhD, is co-author of Clinical Supervision: A Competency-based Approach, (APA, 2004), co-editor of Casebook for Supervision: A Competency-based Approach (APA, 2008), co-author of Getting the Most Out of Clinical Supervision (APA, 2011) and co-editor of the forthcoming volume, Diversity and Multiculturalism in Clinical Supervision: Foundation and Praxis. She has conducted workshops across the United States, Canada, and internationally on the topic of clinical supervision. She is an Adjunct Professor at Pepperdine University, Clinical Professor in the UCLA Department of Psychology and Chair of the CPA Continuing Education Committee.

Edward Shafranske, PhD, ABPP, is Professor of Psychology and director of the doctoral program in clinical psychology at Pepperdine University and lectures in the Residency Training Program in the Department of Psychiatry and Biobehavioral Sciences, David Geffen School of Medicine, UCLA. He is co-author of the best selling Clinical Supervision: A Competency Based Approach, co-editor of Casebook for Clinical Supervision: A Competency-Based Approach, co-author of the forthcoming Getting the Most Out of Clinical Supervision and Training and co-editor of the forthcoming Diversity and Multiculturalism in Clinical Supervision: Foundation and Praxis. A fellow of APA, Dr. Shafranske has supervised graduate students through post-doctoral clinicians and makes theory and research accessible to the everyday practice of clinical supervision.

FORENSIC NEUROPSYCHOLOGY — 4 CE Credits

Capacity Evaluations and the Older Adult

The population of older adults in the US is increasing rapidly. In 2000, people 65+ made up about 12.9% of the population; by 2030 that number is expected to increase to 19%. As adults age, their risk of dementia increases and up to 50% of people 85+ have some form of dementia. As the population ages, there will be an increased demand for psychologists to perform capacity evaluations. This workshop will focus on three issues of capacity that are common in a neuropsychology practice. These include capacity to make medical decisions, testamentary capacity, and financial capacity.

Nancy Hoffman, PsyD, is a geriatric neuropsychologist with a private practice in San Rafael, CA. She is the former President of the Northern California Neuropsychology Forum and currently serves as the Chair for the Committee for Geriatric neuropsychology for CPAs Division of Neuropsychology (Div VIII). In addition to her private practice, Dr. Hoffman is also on staff at Kaiser Permanente in Hayward, CA.

Criminal Forensic Evaluations and the Neuropsychologist

This part of the Institute will address the types of forensic evaluations commonly requested by criminal attorneys and the questions frequently asked by the courts that require the expertise of a neuropsychologist. We will focus on the neuropsychologist’s role in assisting the legal system in addressing questions and formulating decisions related to: violence (murder, assault, domestic violence, etc.) and the risk of future violence, premeditated versus impulsive behavior, the neuropsychology of the major mental illnesses, the insanity defense, and issues related to competency to stand trial.

Richard Lettieri, PhD, received his PhD from the University of Southern California. He is a graduate of the Los Angeles Psychoanalytic Society and Institute (renamed New Center for Psychoanalysis) where he received his certificate in psychoanalysis, and postdoctoral training in mental disability law and neuropsychology. He is a licensed clinical and forensic psychologist with a private and forensic practice in Orange County, CA.

Gail Goodman, PhD
11:00 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.
Enhancing Children’s Eyewitness Testimony
Children’s eyewitness memory plays a crucial role in many legal cases, including child maltreatment, domestic violence, and kidnapping. While many scientific studies and legal cases confirm that children can be quite accurate and reliable witnesses, other studies and legal cases suggest that children at times provide dramatic inaccuracies in their eyewitness reports. Fortunately, researchers are now concentrating on ways to enhance children’s eyewitness accounts, and Dr. Goodman will provide current research and best practices about new approaches for enhancing children’s eyewitness accounts.

Gail Goodman, PhD, is a scientist in the field of child forensic interviewing. Her work over 30 years has had a profound effect on child forensic psychology, public policy and the legal system. Dr. Goodman is Distinguished Professor of Psychology in the Department of Psychology at the University of California, Davis, where she also serves as Director of the Center for Public Policy Research. Her research in the areas of child abuse, memory development, and children as witnesses in legal cases has had a significant impact on national policies concerning children.

Philip Erdberg, PhD
2:00 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.
Personality Disorder, the DSM-V, and the Neuroscience of Psychological Assessment
This is a watershed time for our understanding of personality disorder. The fifth edition of the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders (DSM-V) is nearing completion, with significant changes in its description of personality disorder. Simultaneously, advances in the neurosciences allow us to evaluate our assessment techniques in ways unheard of a quarter century ago. Dr. Erdberg will provide an update on the nomenclature of personality disorder, the neuroscience infrastructure that informs psychological assessment, and the implications of these developments for clinical practice.

Philip Erdberg, PhD, is a diplomate in clinical psychology of the American Board of Professional Psychology. He is a past-president of the Society for Personality Assessment, the 2000 recipient of the California Psychological Association’s Distinguished Contribution to Psychology Award, and the 2001 recipient of the outstanding Achievement Award of the Forensic Mental Health Association of California. Dr. Erdberg is on the faculty of the San Francisco Center for Psychoanalysis and is an assistant clinical professor at the University of California-San Francisco School of Medicine.

Alan M. Goldstein, PhD
8:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m.
Evaluating Capacity to Waive Miranda Rights: Recent Legal Decisions, Research & Revised Assessment Instruments
In the last few years, the U.S. Supreme Court has issued a number of interesting rulings related to how and when Miranda rights must be given to criminal suspects—both juveniles and adults. Recent research has focused on how these Constitutional rights are expressed from one jurisdiction to the next. In addition, the most commonly used instruments for assessing capacity to understand and appreciate Miranda rights have been updated and revised. This presentation focuses on these recent developments and the implications of these changes on forensic practice.

Alan M. Goldstein, PhD, a board certified psychologist-ABPP is Professor Emeritus at John Jay College of Criminal Justice-CUNY and is in forensic practice in New York. He co-chairs the CE Program of the American Academy of Forensic Psychologists (AAFP) and is on the boards of ABBP and ABFP. Dr. Goldstein is editor of Forensic Psychology (2003) and Forensic Psychology: Emerging Topics and Expanding Roles (2007). He is co-editor of a 20 book series on best practices in forensic mental assessment and co-authored two books in that series, one on Miranda waiver evaluations.
The California Psychological Association (CPA) is proud to present its 2012 Annual Convention, a premiere educational opportunity for psychologists. The convention offers four days of cutting edge continuing professional education, opportunities for professional networking and an exciting display of new products and services in the Tabletop Exhibit area.
