Good Morning,

I'm pleased to share the exciting news that Sally Laskey has been named the new Chief Executive Officer of the International Association of Forensic Nurses.

Sally comes to IAFN with 25 years of violence prevention and victim services experience, most recently serving as Outreach Director for the National Sexual Violence Resource Center. She brings with her 20 years of non-profit management experience focusing on sexual violence.

Ms. Laskey has served on expert panels regarding multidisciplinary response to sexual violence and the development of training standards for professionals working to end sexual violence for the U.S. Department of Justice, Office on Violence Against Women, the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Division of Violence Prevention, Office of Justice Programs, Office for Victims of Crime, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, U.S. National Institute of Justice and Department of Defense Joint Task Force for Sexual Assault Prevention and Response. She currently serves on the Peace Corps Sexual Assault Advisory Council. Sally's long time collaboration with IAFN related to convening the first national SANE Coordinator Symposium, managing the NSVRC SANE Sustainability Project and Mobile App, and supporting SAFE TA as well as the development of the National Pediatric SAFE Protocol will assist her in advancing the mission of the IAFN. Her first day at IAFN is September 6th.

I'd like to extend a sincere thank you to IAFN's CEO, Education Director and Past President Jennifer Pierce-Weeks. She served as an admirable leader during this time of transition. I look forward to her continued work with IAFN.

As always, thank you for your continued partnerships with and support of the IAFN. We are very much looking forward to what lies ahead!

Sincerely,

Dolores Krebs, MS, APRN, BC, FNP, SANE A/P, FAANP
President, IAFN
