E

1	Description
2	Run by the American Association of State Colleges and Universities (AASCU), Grant Search includes 2,000 private and federal funding opportunities. A paid institutional membership is required for access.
3	Community foundations are grantmaking public charities that are dedicated to improving the lives of people in a defined local geographic area. Community foundations vary widely in asset size, ranging from less than $100,000 to more than $1.7
4	A database of jobs, services, networks and other information for EU researchers.
5	FedBizOpps lists all federal government contracting opportunities that exceed $25,000, including major solicitations, contract awards, subcontracting opportunities, and other procurement information. This resource is most useful for faculty and staff,
6	The Federal Register is a publication of Congressional and other federal agency documents, including funding announcements. This resource is most useful for faculty and staff, although there are opportunities listed for graduate students and
7	Foundation Center's Foundation Directory Online is the most comprehensive search tool available for locating the funding interests of foundations on local, regional, national, and international levels, as well as past foundation grants and grantees. Subscription required for access; individuals may purchase a subscription, but first check to see if your local university has one.
8	Funding for US Study Online is an extensive database of scholarships, fellowships and grants organized and maintained by the Institute of International Education. Funding for US Study includes all types of funding programs, for all levels of post-
9	Grants.gov centralizes more than 1,000 different grant programs across all 26 federal grant-making agencies awarding more than $500 billion annually.
10	A database of funding for postdoctoral scholars compiled by the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences at Harvard University.
11	A database of funding opportunities for students, postdoctoral scholars, and faculty for study and research abroad. Search by country, subject, or personal affiliation.
12	A database of funding opportunities for dance, music, theater and art. Lists over 4,200 arts organizations, 2,900 award programs, 4,200 service programs, and 900 publications for individual artists across the country.
13	Newton's List is a free resource open to individuals searching for international funding and organizations looking to market their grants to an international audience. Newton's List is open to basic research funding opportunities related to one or more of the following fields: natural sciences, engineering/technology, agricultural sciences or social sciences. Opportunities in biomedical sciences, humanities, or applied research are not included.
14	Includes a variety of international grants and fellowships in biomedical and behavioral research. Its goal is to provide information about additional funding opportunities available to those in the field of global health research. The directory is maintained by the Fogarty International Center, the international component of the US National Institutes of Health (NIH).
15	The National Institutes of Health (NIH) funds research in almost every area related to human health and disease. This page includes extensive information about NIH grants, as well as a place to search NIH funding programs. NIH also has an advanced search page, which offers a wide range of search options. Be sure that "Active RFAs" and "Active PAs" are checked before clicking on "search"; the results will show every open funding opportunity offered by the NIH. Click on the column headings to sort. For example, if you want to see all of the NCI (National Cancer Institute) open funding opportunities, click on the heading "Issuing Organization" to sort the institutes/centers alphabetically, then scroll down to NCI. To search by
16	This webpage allows individuals to search for projects that have been funded by the NIH.
17	Search by Keyword, Recently announced funding opportunities, or Upcoming due dates.
18	Set up an account to use the additional Pivot functions such as "saved searches", and set up sponsor- or disease-related funding email alerts. A Pivot account allows users to access the database from both work and home computers.
19	SciVal Funding comprehensively covers grants from Australia, Canada, the European Commission, India, Ireland, New Zealand, Singapore, South Africa, the United Kingdom, and the United States.
20	With more than 6,000 international sponsors, providing more than 19,000 active opportunities, there are many funding opportunities for which researchers both inside and outside of these countries are eligible.
21	Contains many diversity resources of interest to current/future postdocs - including NIH and NSF, as well as institution-specific funding.
22	Contains educational and professional opportunities to women in the U.S. and around the globe.
23	Lists some useful fellowships, such as L'Oreal for women and The Branco Weiss fellowship.
